By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The State Department has paved the way for the shipment of arms to Mexico, if the United States should be followed by this Government in its dispute with President Calles over the oil and land rights.

Immediately, the lifting of the arms embargo would mean the end of the chaos and, immediately, as under similar conditions in the past, the cry for intervention by the United States to end the chaos would be raised.

The State Department's maneuver was announced in a brief improvised note handed out this morning.

The end of the anti-smuggling treaty with Mexico, which has been in effect, so far as the United States is concerned, on March 1st.

A few days ago, acting Secretary of State Grew told newspaper men the State Department that no arm embargo had been taken by either government toward the abrogation of the treaty.

The treaty was primarily for the purpose of checking the flow of arms from Mexico into the United States. It had one year to run, as explained in the State Department memorandum, which expired on March 23, and that no notice of a desire to terminate it had been given by either government. It was to continue in effect, subject to denuntiation by 30 days' notice by either government.

The State Department now announces that it has decided to end the treaty on March 23, and that it has accordingly given the appropriate notice to the Government of Mexico.

"Certain Contingencies" Cited.

It may be pointed out in this connection, the statement contains, "that the United States has commercial treaties with Mexico, and in the circumstances it is deemed advisable to continue the enforcement of laws or determinations of all sorts into Mexico country with no arrangement, or otherwise, safeguarding American commerce against discrimination."

The ground for the action of the Department, set out in the statement, is that the United States has no commercial treaty with Mexico.

The United States has no commercial treaty with Mexico.

The United States has no commercial treaty with Mexico.

CLEANERS GIVE IN ON PAY AND HOURS; STRIKERS RETURN

Four Hundred of 750 Back After Employers Agree to 10 Per Cent Increase and 44-Hour Week.

CONSENT ALSO TO MINIMUM SCALE

Four Per Cent of Monthly Wages Will Be Set Aside for Employees During the Dull Season.

Approximately 400 of the 750 members of the Cleaners, Dyers & Pressers Union, who went on strike yesterday in support of a 10 per cent wage increase and a 44-hour working week, returned to work today at the 18 wholesale cleaning establishments and at three of the 21 retail concerns, following an agreement between the employers and the union last night.

Under the agreement, the employers met the union demands for increased pay and shorter working hours and further agreed to set aside a sum equal to 4 per cent of the monthly payroll for the benefit of workers during the dull season. It was also agreed that the 10 per cent increase, which becomes effective immediately, is to be followed within 90 days by the establishment of a minimum wage scale for both men and women employees. It is a policy of the union that wages be based on efficiency and that no distinction be made between men and women workers.

The wages of cleaners and dyers employees, under former conditions, ranged from $25 to $45 weekly. It has been charged by union leaders that employees were required to work from 60 to 70 hours weekly without extra compensation, and that many were discharged during the dull season. The unemployment fund, which is in effect in New York, Chicago and other large cities where workers are organized is intended to provide part pay, about $15 a week, for workers laid off during the dull season.

Some Continue Opposition.

The concerns meeting the union demands had previously permitted workers to organize, but declined to accept terms until after the strike was called yesterday. The 21 concerns in the Retail Cleaners & Dyers Association, which have refused to negotiate with union leaders, plan to continue the opposition and carry on their business with non-union workers. The association has opened an employment bureau at its headquarters, 3320 Washington boulevard, where several hundred applications from non-union workers were received yesterday.

The first day of the strike was marked by the arrest of 17 men and 5 women members of the union for mass picketing in front of the Scott Cleaning & Dyeing Co., at 3849 Olive street. After being held at the Laclede Avenue Police Station for several hours, all were released on the promise of union leaders that only four pickets would be permitted in front of any establishment at one time.

The picketing of concerns which have failed to recognize the union continued today. A strike fund, established through financial aid from the Chicago Cleaners' Union, and from levy on the wages of workers returning to their places today, will be used in paying strikers benefits of $15 weekly to strikers who are heads of families, and $10 weekly to unmarried persons.

Shortly afternoon, city detectives arrested in his room at Hotel Mayfair, Benjamin A. Albers of Chicago, who said he was president of the Dyers and Cleaners' Union there. He had $600 in cash in his pockets and a revolver in his bed. Chief of Police Gerk ordered him held incommunicado. He declared the purpose of his visit here was to help, by peaceful means, the organization of the local union, and denies he was in any way responsible for various stench bombs episodes during the last few days.

Stench Bombs Defy Police.

Although police were stationed at all dyeing and cleaning plants where disorder might be expected as a result of the strike, stench bombs were thrown into two branch offices of the Lungstrass Dyeing and Cleaning Co. last night. In each instance a policeman was guarding the front door when the bomb was thrown through a rear window.

At 9:15 p. m. the Lungstrass branch at 1815 South Grand boulevard was bombed, and 15 minutes later the branch at 4337 Arsenal street was attacked. The policeman on duty at each place ran around in time to see men depart in an automobile.

Three men found loitering near the Chapman Cleaning Co., 2110 Arsenal street, early today, were arrested and taken to the Wyoming District Station.

Patrolman Fred Keller, who was 12 hours guarding the Lungstrass cleaning plant, 3101 South Vandeventer avenue, fainted at 4 a. m. today, striking his head. He was treated at city hospital for a scalp laceration and taken to his home, 3856 Penrose street.

ment, and many shots penetrated the foreign quarter.

The Japanese marines who are holding the easterly portion of this area are replying to the snipers shot for shot. The Japanese are posted on several high roofs, from which they watch for the snipers.

Nationalist troops are advancing along the railway around Shanghai in the direction of the Shanghai north station, the center of the remaining Northern resistance. The two forces are expected to collide tonight or tomorrow.

Fanned by a high wind, the fires in the city burned unchecked. There was no effort to put them out, as all activity in the native city had collapsed. Fire brigades from the international settlement were unable to penetrate what was a veritable war front.

It was impossible to estimate the number of Chinese killed or wounded, or the property damage, but it was certain that many innocent Chinese were victims in the civil conflict.

There was prompt response in Shanghai to the call for general strike to celebrate the entry of the Southerners into the city. It was estimated that 150,000 persons were out this morning. All transport services were tied up, the cotton mills were idle, while emergency volunteer crews were manning the power plants and waterworks.

No American casualties were reported. United States marines, who, to the number of 1500 were landed when a threatening situation was developing yesterday near the borders of the international settlement, dealt with no serious incidents. The same was true of Japanese marines.

Landing parties of American bluejackets from the destroyers Sigsbee and Stowaway policed the docks of the Standard Oil Co. and the Dollar Steamship Line opposite Shanghai. Men from the Sigsbee and Chaumont manned the Standard Oil power plant, replacing the striking staff.

Two Russians Beheaded.

Cantonese beheaded two white Russians within sight of the British guards at one of the barriers yesterday and stuck the heads on their bayonets, holding them aloft amid the smiles of Chinese spectators.

The general strike is spreading, and red intimidation is growing bolder. A party of men visited a railway foreman's home and ordered him at pistol point to go to a spot on the railway in the north-west district and superintend the removal of the rails.

The boatswain of a British ship received a note directing him to report at labor headquarters at night to be flogged because he permitted wharf hands to scrub the deck of the vessel yesterday at the hour fixed for the strike. Should he fail to comply, he was warned, he and all his family would be shot.

As an example of the chaos outside the foreign settlements, Northern forces are still running an armored train and firing on anything in sight between the Shanghai north and northeastern stations. The white Russians in charge of the train apparently are unaware that the Shantungese forces are not supposed to be fighting, or are afraid to leave the train.

Destroyer Goes to Nanking.

The United States destroyer Preston today left Wuhan for Nanking to join the destroyer Noa, already there. Guards were landed by the Noa and the British destroyer Emerald to protect the American and British consulates.

Although details of the Nanking situation were lacking, it appeared that the Nationalists were within striking distance, with the Shantungese defenders making preparations for resistance. There were confirmed reports that Soochow, 50 miles west of Shanghai, was occupied by the Southerners without fighting.

A threatening development for the international settlement of Shanghai took place yesterday when a group of soldiers, supposedly of the retreating Northern army, broke through the lines to the north of the settlement and started looting. Calls from the police brought two British armored cars, and the looters were dispersed, but not before a Lieutenant and a Corporal and two soldiers were wounded.

Chinese snipers caused the death during yesterday's disturbances of two Punjabi soldiers attached to the British defense force. Gen. Duncan, in command of the British detachments, issued an order that if there were any further firing on British posts, there should be prompt retaliation.

Just when the main body of the Southern troops will march into Shanghai is problematical.

Troops Poorly Clothed.

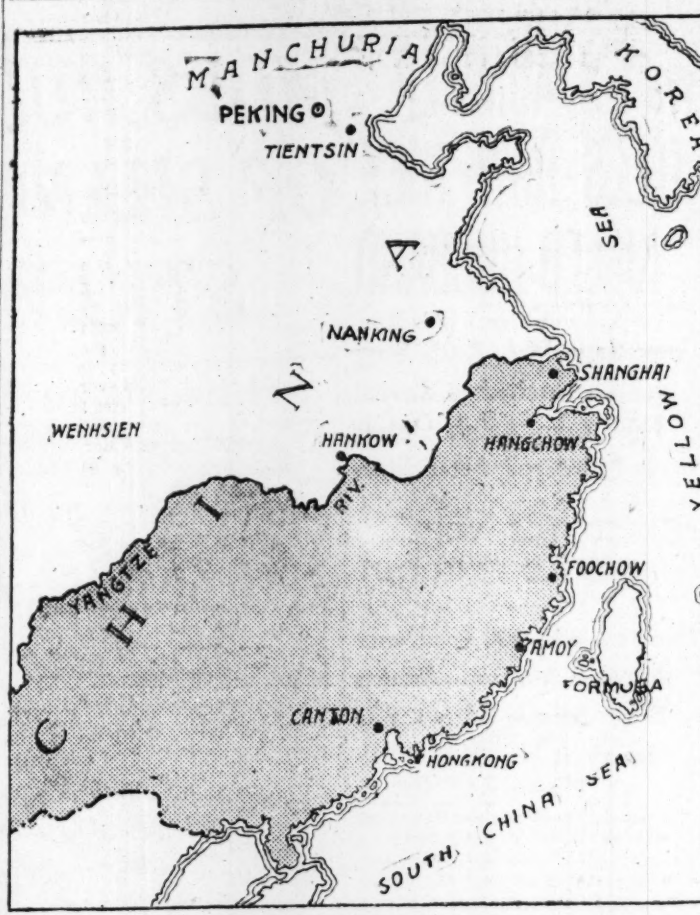

The Cantonese troops are very unimpressive. A large proportion of them are boys in their teens. They are ragged and dirty, but all wear the red and blue Kuomintang necktie. A group of officers seen by the correspondent, however, were comparatively dapper, in the Russian military style.

The correspondent witnessed the passage of a train bearing a thousand or more of these troops through the Jefferson station, where there are British pickets on both sides of the railway. There were no signs of hostility, the British and the Cantonese eyeing each other curiously at a range of a few feet, and commenting jocularly.

U. S. Marines in Settlement.

The United States Marines today were settled in their shore billets here and actively participating in the maintenance of order inside the settlement boundaries. They

Advance of the Cantonese in China

WITH the capture of Shanghai, Southern forces under Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek now control all of the rich territory south of the Yangtze River, indicated by shading. North of the river they hold the southern part of the Province of Anhwei, Hupeh (with their capital at Hankow), Szechwan and Shensi, and are reported to be within striking distance of Nanking, in Northeastern Anhwei, where the Shantungese are preparing for a more obstinate resistance than they were able to make outside of Shanghai.

have not thus far experienced clashes with the Chinese such as the British have had at the barriers.

Streams of refugees are flowing toward the international settlement this afternoon. The crowds, which include British and Japanese, come from the populous suburbs adjoining the Chapel area of Shanghai and are urged along by the crackle of snipers' bullets.

The roads are crowded with automobiles, rickshaws, wheelbarrows and other vehicles, hastily packed with bags and bundles. The municipal authorities are assisting in the evacuation with a fleet of motor vans which are escorted by armored cars.

A concentration, point for the evacuation of foreigners living outside the international settlement has been established at the boys' school. Three hundred small Chinese and foreign children have been brought into the settlement from a French convent at Chapel with the assistance of Northern troops.

MOSCOW, March 22.—Soviet Russia rejoiced over the fall of Shanghai.

American Paper in Hankow Forced to Suspend.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Forced suspension of publication by the Hankow Herald, an American newspaper, and of the Central China Post, a British paper, was reported to the State Department today by Consul General Lockhart at Hankow. The newspapers suspended when the labor union compelled the Chinese employees to quit work.

Lockhart discussed the suspension of the American newspaper with Eugene Chen, the Cantonese Foreign Minister, who promised to give any assistance possible.

Closing of the offices of the British Cigarette Co. because of persistent picketing and the splitting away of loyal Chinese employees also was reported. Several Americans are on the staff of the company.

on to bring Mexico to heel. No amount of diplomatic phraseology can coal the underlying purpose of the department's action.

Even without the lifting of the arms embargo the denunciation of the treaty will probably have the immediate effect of increasing the smuggling of arms to revolutionary bands in Mexico since the United States will no longer be required to exchange information with Mexico on smuggling operations.

The denial of Acting Secretary Grew that any steps had been taken toward the abrogation of the smuggling treaty is on all fours with Secretary Kellogg's denial that the State Department sought to inspire its story of last November about a "Bolshevistic-fostered hegemony" in Latin America.

The President's spokesman, at his regular conference today with the newspaper men, was questioned about the department's announcement, but said that the President had nothing to add to it.

Pending a study of the announcement, Senator Borah, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, and the out-

Among the names attached to the petition were the following: Glenn Frank, president University of Wisconsin; Quincy Wright, professor of international law, University of Chicago; David Starr Jordan, president emeritus Leland Stanford University; Mrs. Louis D. Brandeis, Washington, wife of Justice Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court; Helen Taft Manning, dean Bryn Mawr College, daughter of Chief Justice Taft; Raymond B. Fosdick, New York; William Johnston, former president International Machinists' Union; Mrs. Philip North Moore, St. Louis, former president National Council of Women and General Federation of Women's Clubs; Dr. A. Ross Hill, former president University of Missouri; Kenyon Butterfield, president Michigan State Agricultural College; Harvey Ingham, editor, Des Moines Register; Frank L. McVey, president University of Kentucky; and Mrs. William Z. Ripley, Boston.

The organization working with the committee on peace with Latin America has also gone on record against abrogation of the anti-smuggling treaty. At a recent Washington conference of leaders of these organizations it was declared that termination of the treaty at the instance of the United States would be an unfriendly act toward the Government of Mexico, would constitute an unjustified use of pressure in forcing concessions from the Calles Government in the dispute over the oil and land laws and would lead to enlarged activities by the revolutionists in Mexico.

Tellex Sees Coolidge.

Ambassador Tellex, who made a hurried trip to Mexico recently and conferred with President Calles, quietly slipped into a conference last night with President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg at the President's residence.

Robinson Resolution Ignored.

The department's announcement is a further indication that the State Department is ignoring the Robinson resolution unanimously adopted by the last Senate, recommending the arbitration of the dispute with Mexico over the oil and land laws.

Likewise, President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg ignored a petition from 362 prominent citizens which was submitted to the President yesterday afternoon.

The petition, drawn up under the auspices of the Committee on Peace with Latin America, was occasioned by recent dispatches from Washington and Mexico City, to the effect that the administration was "reconsidering its policy" on the arms embargo, and that unless the results of the recent conference in Mexico City between President Calles and Ambassador Tellex were satisfactory to the President and Secretary Kellogg, a lifting of the arms embargo might be ordered.

The petition was as follows: "We respectfully and earnestly protest against the persistently rumored lifting of the arms embargo as leading to the overthrow of the Mexican Government and eventual intervention. We reiterate our appeal for arbitration."

Among the signers of the petition presented yesterday to the President are officials of Republican and Democratic State organizations, college and university presidents and professors, heads of State and local Rotary clubs, chambers of commerce and business organizations. Judges of Municipal and district courts, newspaper editors and authors, national and State women's organizations, and officers of national educational, religious and business organizations.

The petition was presented to President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg on the recommendation of representatives of 25 national organizations who met in Washington on March 16 to discuss the Mexican situation, at a conference presided over by George M. Lamont.

ROBBERS GIVEN 7 YEARS FOR HOLDUP OF GROCERY

Younger Brother's Attempt to Turn Blame for Crime Fails to Convince Jury.

In spite of a younger brother's attempt to shoulder the entire blame for a grocery holdup with which they were jointly charged, Thomas Strawbridge, 23 years old, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge O'Connell in Circuit Court.

Jack Kacin, grocer at 4500 Atlantic avenue, and a customer, had identified Thomas as one of two masked robbers who held them up Dec. 11, last, taking $40, when they had been awarded stand and declared that he, no Thomas, was the man they had seen. He named another youth who he said accompanied him in the holdup.

The jury, however, did not accept Edward's story, as the witnesses were positive in their identification and had identified most of the money in Thomas' pockets when arrested.

Edward obtained a severance promising to plead guilty of the charge. He is scheduled for trial next week.

Trance Readings, Before In-

Broker Charles W. Shaver
Bring Suit.

The practice of telling fortunes in Wellston, at $5 a throw, can be combined with the rapid selling of oil leases at several times their value has been revealed in the course of a Treasury Department investigation into the affairs of Victor Delmar, spirit medium, of 6215A Easton avenue, to determine why he never has filed an income tax return.

The investigation was begun after Delmar had been awarded judgment of $6300 for unpaid commissions on Arkansas oil leases he disposed of to "customers," or persons whose fortunes he told. The judgment was against Charles W. Shaver, an oil lease broker, who recently had offices at 508 North Vandeventer avenue. In the course of the suit, Delmar said he had sold in all $17,230 worth of leases. It is contended by Shaver's attorney that Delmar, self-styled "the wonderful seer of modern times," exercised the black arts and mystic wiles of Wellston's fortune-tellers row to sell more than that amount of leases. Something in excess of $15,000 worth of the approximately 1000 leases, it is alleged, were sold by Delmar's paid commissions alone in excess of $11,000.

"Hasn't Made Enough."

A gray-haired, middle-aged man, dressed smartly, Delmar speaks magnificently of his trade in Wellston, denies the $11,000 in commissions, and declares he has not made enough money since coming to St. Louis to justify the making out of an income tax form.

Delmar and Shaver met first in 1921, and at once came to an agreement. According to a legal advisor to Shaver, the latter had no hand in leases to approximately 10,000 acres of land in Drexel and Ashley counties, Arkansas. There was no stipulation, it is understood, that Delmar was to behold, during his "trance" readings with seer clients, sudden promising sales decked with gushing oil wells, loaded delicacies of sales technique were left to the mystical judgment of the Wellston seer.

It was established, however, that Delmar, who boasts of having more power "than any five mediums" as to receive a commission of 45 per cent on all sales. A third party, close to the arrangement between the two men, said 10 per cent for "expenses" was deducted from every sale, and that the remaining 35 per cent was split between the pair. The expenses, it is understood, were the cost of lighting the land.

$90 An Acre Profit.

This meant, according to the third party, that oil leases in Drexel and Ashley counties would be acquired for approximately $10 an acre, and would be sold later, across Delmar's glass-topped desk with the mystic lamp, for $100 or more per acre. The seer's profit, on one acre, would be $45—four and one-half times the approximate value. The customer, perhaps for the moment under the spell of Wellston psychic waves, paid down solid cash to an amount that was nine or ten times the original value of the oil lease.

Delmar's rooms on the second floor at 6215A Easton avenue contained many money-making prospects, said in time the secret of the "good thing" the Arkansas oil leases—broken to them. Not the least suggestive gesture made by the seer was to receive a commission of 45 per cent on all sales. A third party, close to the arrangement between the two men, said 10 per cent for "expenses" was deducted from every sale, and that the remaining 35 per cent was split between the pair. The expenses, it is understood, were the cost of lighting the land.

Delmar's customers, a man in Chicago, was to provide papers showing that he had invested in 20 acres of the treasure-promising soil. Then, the "trance," the tearing of "veil" from the future, the "mystic" business proposition. And the good old phrase—"Opp-ortunities knock but once."

JOHN CECIL CLAY.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 22.—Fortune finally has smiled upon John Cecil Clay, artist, whose first wife divorced him and ended her life, and whose second wife, Mrs. Marie Deschapelles Baudy Clay, member of an old St. Louis family, also divorced him, in 1915.

A love letter received by Clay from the wife of a New York physician cost him his second wife. By a coincidence, it is a letter—of a different sort, however—which now brings him $51,000 cash to rescue him from straitened circumstances.

The $51,000 was paid to Clay by Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach for a letter signed by Button Gwinnett, who also signed the Declaration of Independence. It is the rarest of autographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, as told after the sale last week. Most of the signers were active in public life, for years and their signatures became common, but Gwinnett died in 1777, and the letter sold by Clay is the only official paper, aside from the Declaration, ever signed by Gwinnett.

Laid In Book 150 Years.

On July 12, 1776 Gwinnett, acting as a member of the Naval Committee of the Continental Congress, addressed a letter to John Ashmead, clerk for a war frigate then in Philadelphia. Ashmead's descendants kept the letter, not knowing its value, until record papers for unofficial Gwinnett autographs reminded Clay, a great-grandson of Ashmead, that he had seen it somewhere among the family possessions. Recently he found it in the leaves of an old French book, where it had er introduced her to Shaver, and the two talked at length of the possibilities in Arkansas oil land. The widow was reluctant to close the deal and wanted time to think it over, but the seer's confidence impressed her, so she remained in St. Louis another day. She capitulated the following morning, while the seer strode pompously about his neatly furnished offices, driving the wheels of one of his automobiles. The palm of the other, and intermittently booming, in impressively measured accents—"Opp-ortunities knock but once at your door—opp-ortunities but once—"

"When she had signed the leases, the widow said, she had misgivings, but was afraid to withdraw, and went to the bank and got her money in a check for $2000, which she paid over. If the agreement was observed in this case, approximately $200 went for the original cost of the lease, the seer received $900 and the remainder went to Shaver.

Apparently, there was some misunderstanding between Shaver and the fortune-teller. Delmar told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday that, although his commissions should have been many thousands, he actually received only $1500 in cash. He was paid just enough, after every sale, he said, to keep him "going." At any rate, in April, 1926, Delmar sued the lease broker for $7200 back commissions.

Some hint of the success Delmar had in selling leases may be gleaned from the list of transactions he testified to at trial of the suit. Apparently, it was not a complete list. He said he sold, in 1923, a ten-acre lease, at $100 an acre, to George W. Smith; a year later, he sold to the same Smith an additional 20 acres, making Smith's total investment $4000; but some time later he sold Smith another $1000 worth of property, making the total $5000. The other sales specified were to Herman Dalver, 25 acres of leases for a total of $2500, and 20 acres in fee for $2200, making a total of $4700; to Fred Teghtmeyer, 20 acres of leases, $2000; to Joseph Greenwell, 10 acres of leases, $1000; to Mrs. Elmer Matersan, 15 acres of leases, $1500; to Mrs. Velma Rockmann, 20 acres of leases, $2000; and to John Mitchell, 10 acres of leases, $2000. Judgment was rendered in Delmar's favor on Sept. 22, 1926, for $6300, the commission on these sales. The amount has not yet been paid.

Delmar denied to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had recourse to "mystic" methods in disposing of the leases. He insisted his salesmanship was "a straight business proposition," and that it had nothing to do with his fortune-telling, except, of course, that he had first made the acquaintance of the persons he sold leases to when they came into his offices to have their futures read.

His real name, Delmar said, is Harry Rockwell, and he comes from Chicago. "I tell you the truth just as I did to the income tax men," he said. "I've lost money since I've been in this town. I haven't even made expenses."

Clay's work had appeared in many of the leading magazines and had been published in portfolio form also. In 1912, however, he was stricken with paralysis, which eventually forced him to discontinue his work and confined him to an easy chair. An adopted daughter, Mildred, now 20 years old, has been his nurse. They live at Mamaroneck in a house that has seen better days—the house that sadly needs repairs and will be replaced, now that $51,000 has been received for Burton Gwinnett's autograph.

FOUR DIE, 69 ILL ABOARD
AMERICAN ARMY TRANSPORT

13 Members of Congress on Chateau-Thierry Which Is Making

WASHINGTON, March 22.—With its hospital facilities crowded, the Army transport Chateau-Thierry is speeding to San Francisco, bearing the bodies of four soldiers who have succumbed to disease and with 58 persons aboard suffering from influenza. In addition 11 cases of mumps have developed.

The Chateau-Thierry's passenger list contains the names of 13 members of Congress among the occupants of the first cabins. Six cases of influenza have occurred among the first-class passengers, but whether any of the Congressmen have been affected has not been reported to the War Department. The others ill are members of the ship's crew and soldiers aboard.

The transport is enroute from New York to San Francisco, where she will arrive tomorrow night. Four Army surgeons, extra medical corps enlisted men, and nurses aboard the ship as passengers assisted in halting the epidemic. The influenza broke out when ship officers quarantined Panama off the west coast of Costa Rica.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Col. Louis Bash, head of the army transport service here, today received a radiogram from Congressman C. P. Curry, senior member of the congressional delegation aboard the transport Chateau-Thierry, saying that the peak of the influenza epidemic aboard the vessel had passed and the situation had been controlled and there was no fear of a recurrence. "No member of Congress is ill," the dispatch said.

CHARLIE BIRGER OPENS FIRE
ON MEN TRYING TO BURN HOME

Gangster Thinks He Wounded One With Machine Gun in Early Morning Attack.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 22.—Charlie Birger, gang leader, today reported that at 4 o'clock this morning he routed four men who attempted to set fire to his house and fired on them with a machine gun as they fled to an automobile in which a fifth man waited.

Ten minutes later a man described by witnesses as "having his hand almost shot off" entered a Harrisburg restaurant and ordered a taxi in which he asked to be taken to Franklin County, north-west of Harrisburg, police were told.

Earlier this morning, about 12:30 o'clock, a new roadhouse a mile south of West Frankfort and 25 miles northwest of Harrisburg, was burned to the ground. A still and mash were found in the ruins. The name of the owner is not known to local peace officers.

MISSISSIPPI NEARS CREST
ALLAYING FEAR OF FLOODS

With a rise of only three-tenths of a foot in the last 24 hours, the Mississippi River has about reached its crest at St. Louis. Weather forecasters here said today that the stage at 7 a. m. was 27.3 feet, still 2.7 feet below flood stage of 30 feet. A fall is expected to begin here tonight, although a slight rise is probable in the next 24 hours from Louisiana, Mo., to Grafton, Ill., at the mouth of the Illinois River.

The Missouri is reported to be rising slightly from Lexington to Jefferson City, but below Jefferson City a fall already has begun. This will continue for about 24 hours, when it will become stationary. The Osage is still reported "very high," but is not expected to have much effect on the lower Missouri. The Meramec has reached its crest and a fall is likely to start about tomorrow.

The most serious rise in the Mississippi is expected at Cairo, Ill., where the crest will be reached Thursday or Friday with a stage of 52 feet. This is eight feet above flood stage and is six inches below the flood level reached in 1922.

TWENTY INJURED,
NINE ARRESTED
IN STUDENT FIGHT

Sophomores Invade Dinner of Johns Hopkins Freshmen at Annapolis After Warning Is Defied.

By the Associated Press.
ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 22.—Maryland's staid and ancient capital is recovering its composure today after witnessing unprecedented violence in a class fight between Johns Hopkins University students.

A freshman class dinner, eventually eaten against vehemently expressed sophomore wishes, but in a building without window panes and door panels, off much broken crockery and under protection of eight lines of high-pressure fire hose, was the cause.

One student seriously injured, four others known to have received hospital or medical treatment, 20 nursing swollen heads, black eyes, sprains and bruises, nine in jail, and a National Guard armory badly battered is the officially tabulated result.

Fear One May Die.

Bernard Brack of Baltimore suffered a possible fractured skull from a blow from a policeman's night stick. At Annapolis emergency hospital he remained unconscious for several hours, and physicians feared that if complications arose his injury might prove fatal.

John Grayson Turnbull of Towson, Md., and Gladstone Beadenkoff of Baltimore also went to the hospital with heads battered from contact with police bills. Turnbull was released at his own request, but police took him in custody on the hospital steps. Erwin K. Gordon of Baltimore suffered head and neck injuries when he was swung from the top of a flight of stairs, and Baldwin Street of Baltimore broke his arm in a leap from an armory window.

The nine under arrest on charges of entering and destroying State property, malicious mischief and inciting riot, included Joseph Richardson of Tulsa, Ok.

Scene of the Fight.

The Johns Hopkins freshmen, 215 strong, their destination presumably secret, left Baltimore yesterday evening. Hardly had they seated themselves around their dinner tables in the Annapolis National Guard Armory, when 175 sophomores descended on the building with a whoop that rattled the windows of the executive mansion and gave pause to the Maryland General Assembly in the State House, a few hundred feet away. Fifty of the attackers reached the interior in the rush, taking window panes and door panels with them. A barrage of crockery and tableware found its mark on both freshmen and sophomore heads.

The Annapolis police force, numbering four men, stormed the gathered sophomores in the street, and, believing themselves to have been fired upon, emptied their pistols over the heads of the rioters.

After officers of the National Guard had been refused permission by Gov. Ritchie to muster their men to clear the building, Mayor Alan Bowie Howard, who had been injured in the knee by a flying paving brick, called out the Fire Department. The sophomores were drenched out by eight high-pressure streams of water.

The fight attracted 3000 persons to the center of the city, and held up all traffic through the town. State's Attorney Brady said the State property damage charge would not be pressed, as the classes had pledged themselves to repay it.

Ten students today paid fines of $250 each. Brack pleaded guilty from his hospital bed.

GOVERNOR PARDONS "SLAYER" OF GIRL WHO DISAPPEARED

Frees Conley Dabney as Grand Jury Starts Investigation of "Murder" Trial.

By the Associated Press.
HARLAN, Ky., March 22.—Judge Forester today ordered the grand jury to investigate the processes whereby Conley Dabney, 26 years old and married, was sentenced to prison for life for the "murder" of Mary Vickery, 16. Dabney was convicted on the testimony of Marie Jackson, 27, who swore she saw him attack the girl, kill her and throw her body in an abandoned mine. However, the supposedly murdered girl is alive and well and has returned to Harlan County to vindicate her "slayer."

Both the Vickery girl and the Jackson woman are held pending action by the grand jury. Miss Jackson sticks to her original story—that she saw Dabney kill a girl and throw the body in the mine. Dabney says this testimony was inspired by the wrath of unrequited love.

A body was found in the mine. It was identified as Miss Vickery's by her father. County officers now are endeavoring to establish a correct identification, but there are no clues.

JUDGE SHEDS A TEAR
OVER STORAGE ONIONS

Strong Evidence Presented in Litigation of State of Preservation of Lot.

A dozen onions introduced in evidence in Circuit Judge Mix's court yesterday, caused Judge Mix to comment, "This case is getting stronger," but the situation will be aggravated today when a spoiled onion—surprise evidence—will be introduced.

Ten experts on onions were on hand today to testify in the suit of the Booth Cold Storage Co. against D. O. Williams & Co., fruit and produce firm, to collect $559.92 for storage of onions and apples. D. O. Williams & Co. has a counter claim of $850 against the storage house, asserting that through bad handling 159 sacks of yellow Utah onions spoiled.

Testimony of "men who know their onions" will be needed to develop the justice of the defendant's counter claim. In order to qualify as onion experts the witnesses, drawn mostly from "Commission row" on Third street, are obliged to testify that they know the following things:

How to tell, by its odor, whether an onion has been frozen.

How to pack onions, leaving air space between the sacks.

How to judge the effect of light, moist air and temperature changes on an onion.

How onions thrive at a temperature of 32 to 35 degrees and spoil at a temperature of 40 to 50 degrees.

How to tell when an onion is in good condition and when it is ready to spoil.

How strong a good onion should be.

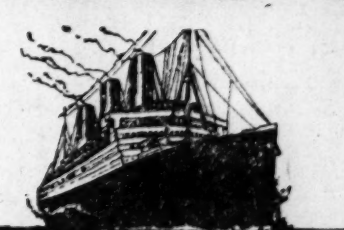

The Judge and court stenographer were almost overwhelmed by the evidence introduced yesterday, and when spectators laughed because Judge Mix wiped his eyes, the Court remarked, "It may be comedy for you butter and egg men but it's tragedy for the Court."

The onion which caused the trouble had been cut in half and placed on the stenographer's desk as an exhibit. It was a fresh onion.

"We are holding in reserve a spoiled onion," Attorney Rogers, representing the defendant said. "It is surprise testimony."

Attorney Bolasubhin, representing the plaintiff, retorted, "We shall prove that those onions were in bad condition when stored."

Is "YELLOW MASK"
Hiding Your Teeth's Beauty?

THAT YELLOW tint on your teeth is unsightly. All enamel is a beautiful pearly white—lustrous as ivory. You have it—only that yellow veil hides it.

Ordinary dentifrices cannot remove it. They gloss right over it. You know this because no matter how often and hard you brush the yellow mask clings.

But now science comes to your aid. It has finally succeeded in doing what for years it has tried to do. That is, incorporated a marvelous substance known as "Tri-Calcium Phosphate" in a tasty, pleasant toothpaste.

This substance is what leading dentists use to clean teeth. It completely erases that yellow stain—yet can't harm the softest enamel. Nor is it gritty.

The name of this wonderful preparation is ORPHOS Tooth Paste. (The effect of one brushing will amaze and delight you. Glistening, gleaming whiteness—often in a single brushing!)

PAIR ATTEMPTING TO ROB 20 MEN ROUTED

Five Shots Fired at Robbers Who Held Up St. Vincent de Paul Society.

St. Vincent de Paul Society met last night in the basement of the New Cathedral School at 4430 Maryland avenue and a collection of about $30 that had been taken was lying on a table just before adjournment when two holdup men walked in on the 20 members.

"Here, line up, you," the taller of the robber pair said quietly to the nearest man. He waved his pistol toward the wall and fingered his handkerchief mask nervously. Two or three of the members obeyed his command and his companion moved toward the front of the hall to line up the rest.

Standing on the platform beside the chairman's place at the time were John R. McCarthy, an attorney of 4343 Forest Park boulevard, and George J. Merkel, of 322 North Boyle avenue, by day a traffic policeman at Ninth and Pine streets, but last night, in civilian clothes, as peaceful appearing as any of the other members.

"What's going on, Merkel?" McCarthy asked as he saw the robber command their way. Merkel sized up the situation in a glance. He reached for his pistol.

"Hey, you can't pull that stuff off in here," he shouted, and began firing. The members were still scattered about the hall and the policeman found difficulty in firing at the holdup men because of the danger of hitting some of the others. The robbers fled precipitately. Merkel fired five shots before they got out of the place. Only four bullet marks were found in the walls and floor, a fact which leads him to believe the fifth may have struck one of the young men.

Robbers Maltrated Victim in Auto, Fracturing One of His Ankles. John Donire, 46 years old, a guest at a hotel at 1624 Market street, suffered a fracture of the left ankle when he was pulled bodily from his automobile six miles south of Jefferson Barracks at 10:45 p. m. yesterday by two men, who took the machine and fled.

William Rosen shouted when two men held him up at the door of his garage in rear of his home, at 1741 Simpson place, at 9:15 p. m., and they fled without taking anything.

Thomas Domick, who inadvertently left $310 on the dresser in a room of a hotel at 805 Market street yesterday, when he started to return to his home in Peoria, went back within 20 minutes for his money, but it was gone. So was a new guest, who had taken the room.

M. L. Harris, his opponent, claimed that he got only eight minutes before the alarm went off and so was allowed two extra minutes. This time did not permit Harris to relate more than a tenth of his labors in the public weal. Seven candidates for Commissioner also spoke, but complained that the alarm ruined the effect of their speeches.

MILITARY FUNERALS FOR TWO BUS VICTIMS

Michael Secunda Lira and Mrs. Eugene Reed Will Be Buried Thursday.

Full military honors will be paid the funeral Thursday of Michael Secunda Lira, one of three survivors of the naval submarine S-51 which was rammed and sunk off Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 25, 1925. Lira was killed in the accident. He was returning with his naval reserve basketball team from Chicago to St. Louis. The reserves will participate also in the funeral Thursday afternoon of Mrs. Eugene Reed, wife of the coach of the team, who was killed in the accident. Lira's funeral will be held from his family residence, 5820 Wabasha avenue, at 9 a. m. Thursday, to St. Charles Borromeo's church, Calvary street. The Seventh Battalion, the naval reserve, comprising more than 100 men in four divisions, will go to the house, with the uniforms, white hats and coats.

The Thirty-eighth Division, to which Lira belonged, will form a visible line in front of the residence as honorary pallbearers. The other divisions will stand in the rear. Among the active pallbearers will be fellow members of Lira's on the division basketball team, which had gone to Chicago for a tournament Saturday, and Thomas J. Stein, at one time a shipmate of Lira on the S-51. The Thirty-eighth Division will be similar lines of recruits at the church and cemetery. Three volleys will be fired over the grave. Father Casper, pastor of St. Charles, will conduct the funeral. Lieutenant-Commander Walter Veatch, commandant of the battalion, will be in charge of the service. Lira is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jennie Lira, and two brothers, Bert and John. Mrs. Reed's funeral will be from her home at the reserve armory, 1017 Ferry street, at 2 p. m. Thursday, with services at St. James' Evangelical Church and burial at Friedman's cemetery. The service, in uniform, will form a visible line for the cortege at the home, church and cemetery. The regular drill at the armory will be tomorrow night, instead of Tuesday night.

SHOP EXPLAINS SINCERITY

IN LENTEN NOON-DAY SERMON the Right Rev. W. L. Rogers of Cleveland to Preach at Christ Church Cathedral Daily. The Right Rev. Warren Lincoln Rogers of Cleveland, O., Bishop and adjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio, will preach daily this week, except Saturday, at the Lenten services in Christ Church Cathedral. In his opening talk yesterday, Bishop Rogers spoke of the virtue of sincerity, as illustrated by the characterizations of Nathaniel, the Israelite, indeed, in whom there is no guile. He declared sincerity to mean absence of pretense and camouflage. "Sincerity does not mean that your life must be in routine. We have had too many pietists in the world who say that if we are to be sincere we must follow a certain rule of life. And sincerity does not mean that we have to be a bore. Sincerity really means something like honesty, as in the sunlight. We welcome the criticisms that come to us, that keep us ever on our guard to tear away deceptions."

SHOP EXPLAINS SINCERITY LENTER NOON-DAY SERMON

Cleveland to Preach at Christ Church Cathedral Daily.
Right Rev. Warren Lincoln of Cleveland, O., Bishop of the Episcopal diocese here, will preach daily this except Saturday, at the Lenten services in Christ Cathedral.

In the opening talk yesterday,
Rogers spoke of the virtue sincerity, as illustrated by the characterization of Nathaniel Melville, indeed, in whom there is no guile. He declared to mean absence of possible camouflage. "Sincerity means that your life must be a routine. We have had too many artists in the world who if we are to be sincere we must follow a certain rule of conduct. Sincerity does not mean we have to be a bore. Sincerity means, something like honesty, as in the sunlight. We must keep our eyes on our task and tear away deceptions."

He said that he was sure that he would keep us ever on our task and tear away deceptions."

MRS. BROWNING LOSES

$300 WEEKLY ALIMONY

Court Decision, Granting Husband Separation, Does Not Provide Her a Cent.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 22.—Edward W. Browning's 16-year-old wife, "Peaches" today is separated from the riches and splendor to which she has become accustomed. No longer must the wealthy 52-year-old real estate man pay her $300 a week alimony. In fact he need not pay a cent, according to the decision of Supreme Court Justice Seeger, who yesterday granted Browning a separation.
Automatically deprived by the decision of the $300 a week alimony she had been receiving since November, "Peaches" and her mother, Mrs. Catherine Heenan, are without funds to pay for an appeal. Mrs. Browning's only claim to continued support is to return to her husband should be desire to take her back.

"I haven't a word to say—not a word," was Browning's comment when informed of the court's decision.

"Peaches" Mother in Tears.

"Peaches" received the news on returning home from a shopping tour with her mother. Mrs. Heenan, who Browning charged was the cause of the rift in relations between him and his wife, remarked: "Peaches must not be annoyed. She is worn out by the strain of so much publicity." Then came tears.

Henry Epstein, attorney for "Peaches," said: "An appeal in such a case is very expensive business. Mrs. Browning has no money, and any money to finance the additional legal expenses would have to come from Mr. Browning."

Browning already has had to pay Epstein $500.

Justice Seeger said in his decision that he failed to find Mrs. Browning's sensational charges of cruelty supportable by the evidence.

Court Criticizes Both Sides.

The Justice, viewing the case as a whole, however, took the occasion to criticize both sides of the separation suit—once Mrs. Browning's side for an "attempt to palm off an expurgated diary" as evidence, and again, Browning's side, for the testimony of two male witnesses who, the Judge said, "ought now to be prosecuted."

Justice Seeger granted Browning the separation—he began the suit—on the ground of abandonment, dismissing the real estate man's first clause of action of alleged cruelty.

Mrs. Browning, the Justice held, failed to justify her conduct in leaving her husband.

Her counter-claim, that she was forced to leave because she could no longer stand the company of her husband, was dismissed.

The only point of peculiarity which, said Justice Seeger, he could find in the elderly real estate man was the fact that he married so young a woman. Even so, he said he believed Browning's intentions were good.

If Mrs. Browning was not, as she testified, interested in her husband's money and was merely seeking her freedom, she should, he advised, petition for an annulment on the ground that she was too young at the time of her marriage.

Actress Sues for $250,000.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 22.—
Lillian Marshall, former actress, has filed suit for $250,000 in Superior Court against the Chesterfield Motion Picture Corporation, said to be a New York releasing organization. The suit alleges that the corporation has failed to fulfill an agreement for division of profits from the sale of a picture.

That Fat
How Easily It Went

Countless people, all about you, are getting slender figures now. You see that in every circle.

What is the reason? Strenuous exercise and starvation diets are no more common than they were. There must be something else.

The great reason is Marmola Prescription Tablets, now used for 19 years. They are based on scientific research, and act to correct the cause.
Countless users have found that they not only reduced, but they brought new vitality, new youth. They have told others, and the use of Marmola has grown to very large proportions.

The slender figures you see everywhere now are largely due to Marmola.
The use required no abnormal exercise or diet, yet the weight came down and down.

You should know Marmola, should watch its effects. It means reduction that is real, if only a few pounds a week. It means new vitality. Go see, for your own sake, what one box will do.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box.
If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

EXPLAINS SHOOTING

MRS. ETHEL CLARK.

MAN AND WOMAN SHOT AT HIS WIFE'S GRAVE

He Wounds Her Four Times
Then Turns Weapon on Himself.

At the grave of his dead wife in Calvary Cemetery, where he had placed a wreath of flowers in memory of the fourth anniversary of her death, Castrenzo Lacingo, 40 years old, yesterday shot Mrs. Ethel Clark, 24, four times with a pistol and then fired a bullet into his own head. Both were taken to City Hospital and are expected to recover.

Lacingo said today that he had decided to kill himself in a fit of despondency, and shot Mrs. Clark because she said she wanted to die, too. Mrs. Clark related that she seized the weapon when Lacingo drew it to shoot himself and was accidentally shot in the shoulder. Then, she said, he seemed to lose his mind and fired three more shots at her.

Lacingo, the father of seven children who live at 804 Morgan street, is variously known as Lacingo Caspin and Frank Lacingo. He is a barber and joint owner with Mrs. Clark in the Joya Beauty Shop at 2375 Delmar boulevard. Since September they have lived at 2961 Delmar boulevard where they were known as Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lacingo.

Lacingo formerly ran the saloon at 2400 North Jefferson avenue, where on Nov. 13 last, he shot and killed Raymond Haemmerle. He was exonerated by the grand jury on testimony that Haemmerle had created a disturbance and had threatened him.

Mrs. Clark divorced her husband in January. She has a 6-year-old son who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koenig, at 2797 Magnolia avenue. Koenig was second baseman on the Brown in the late 80's.

When Mrs. Koenig was told of the shooting she recalled that it was the anniversary of Mrs. Lacingo's death, and that Lacingo made an annual pilgrimage to the grave. She thought the shooting might have been prompted by the fact that her daughter upbraided Lacingo for neglecting his children.

There was no eyewitness to the shooting. The taxicab driver, George Wilhelm, said he was called to 1829 Carr street at 11:30 a. m. After driving the pair around the city for a while, Lacingo directed him to the cemetery and dismissed him with a dollar tip. He lingered in the neighborhood, he said, because he observed that Lacingo was acting peculiarly.

CAMP JACKSON MONUMENT

FUND CAMPAIGN OPENS

Committee Announces $6000 of $50,000 Sought Has Been Contributed.

The campaign to raise $50,000 for the building of a monument to memorialize the capture of Camp Jackson in the Civil War was launched yesterday with a luncheon at Hotel Mayfair at which F. Ernest Cramer, general chairman of the campaign, presided. At the close of the luncheon it was announced that approximately $6000 had already been contributed to the monument fund.

A group of more than 100 women were busy yesterday accepting pledges of money, and they will solicit contributions throughout the week. Mrs. J. H. Payne is chairman of the women's group aiding in the campaign. The drive was formally inaugurated at yesterday's meeting by an address by Former Mayor Kiel.

The larger donations thus far are $1000 from the Women's Patriotic Council; $500 from the Ladies of the Grand Army; McKinley Circle; $500 from Frank P. Blair Post, Grand Army of the Republic; and $200 from Elizabeth Noble Circle, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic. Many smaller contributions have also been received.

A large sign was placed yesterday at Grand boulevard and Pine street, the proposed site of the monument, calling upon the public to contribute to the fund.

YOST ADVERTISING COMPANY

Profit Margins DOWN Net Profits UP

Is it getting harder to make a net profit in your business? If you are facing lower prices and narrower margins, have you considered how advertising can improve your net profits by cutting sales costs?

Some people suppose that the only object of advertising is to increase volume. But advertising may be used to: (a) transfer volume from less profitable to more profitable items; (b) concentrate business in markets where sales costs are lowest; (c) raise the productivity of salesmen and thereby lower sales cost, etc.

In these and many other ways advertising can improve net profit, with or without an increase in total volume.

This agency looks upon advertising only as a means to net profits for the advertiser. Even when advertising is used to promote volume, produce consumer acceptance, or do any of the usual things which advertising is supposed to do—the real purpose in view should always be net profits.

When this agency prepares a campaign, it is not merely an advertising campaign, but a sales program (employing advertising as a part only of the complete plan) with net profits as the objective.

Whether you are a large advertiser or a non-advertiser, may we not discuss with you the application of advertising to your business on this sound and sensible basis?

HOUSE VOTES TO ESTABLISH STATE HIGHWAY PATROL

Measure Also Prescribes Uniform Traffic Regulations for All City Streets and Public Roads.

PROPOSAL NOW UP TO THE SENATE

Force Would Consist of Chief, 30 Patrolmen and Regular Employees of the Highway Commission.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 22.—The street and highway safety bill, prescribing uniform traffic regulations for all municipal streets and public highways in Missouri and establishing a State highway patrol to enforce traffic and road laws, was passed last night in the House by a vote of 80 to 24, and now goes to the Senate.

This measure, sponsored by the Missouri Association for Street and Highway Safety, eliminated differences in traffic regulations in cities and towns and prescribes a uniform code for travel on the highways. It is patterned after a model traffic regulation bill drafted at a national safety conference held in Washington, D. C., a year ago, at the call of Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

The State highway patrol established by the bill would be under the supervision of the State Highway Department. It would consist of a chief and 30 regular patrolmen, but in addition to this force the Highway Commission is authorized to designate as many of its employees as additional patrolmen as the commission considers necessary. This would permit designation of an ex-official force of nearly 1700 road maintenance and construction employees to aid in enforcement of traffic laws on the State highways, in addition to performance of their regular duties. Highway Department employees thus appointed as additional patrolmen would receive no extra compensation for such services.

Duties of the Patrol.
The patrolmen would have enforcement of traffic regulations and the laws governing weight of vehicles, and assistance in enforcement of the motor vehicle registration and gasoline tax laws through reporting violations.

The patrolmen would have the same power in traffic cases as Sheriffs and policemen, but would have no authority over other law violations.

The bill prescribes a new set of speed limits, varying from 15 to 45 miles an hour under certain conditions. The present State law gives a limit of 25 miles an hour, but requires that it must be shown that any person charged with exceeding this limit was driving at a rate which is not careful and prudent, considering the time of day, the place, the amount of traffic and condition of the highway.

The bill passed by the House provides that "any person driving a vehicle on a highway shall drive in a careful and prudent manner and at a speed not greater than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic, surface and width of the highway and of any other conditions then existing, and no person shall drive any vehicle upon a highway at such speed as to endanger the life, limbs or property of any person."

Speed Limits Fixed.
Subject to that general provision, the bill fixes the following speed limits: 15 miles an hour when passing a school during school hours; on other than improved State highway when approaching within 50 feet of any traversing grade crossing; in traversing curves or grades when the driver's vision is obstructed within distance of 100 feet; and on all highways within a business district. Twenty miles an hour when approaching within 50 feet of or traversing a grade crossing on an improved State highway; 25 miles an hour on any street in a residence district; and the same limit in public parks unless a different speed is posted by local authorities; 45 miles an hour under all other conditions, not otherwise restricted in the bill.

Power of Local Authorities.
Local authorities are empowered to increase the limits on through highways within towns but not to reduce them. Other speed limits are fixed for heavy vehicles and trucks, including 25 miles an hour for two-ton trucks, 20 miles an hour for trucks up to 2½ tons; 15 miles for trucks of 3½ to 5 tons capacity, and 10 miles an hour for trucks with a capacity in excess of five tons.

The highway commission is authorized to require vehicles to come to a stop before entering State highways from a side road and to make other special safety regulations. The bill prescribes in detail the requirements for signals, rules for operation of a vehicle on the streets and highways, and the equipment of motor vehicles.

A provision in the original bill that all drivers of automobiles must obtain drivers' permits was eliminated when the bill was engrossed in the House.

Gov. Smith to Summer at Coney. NEW YORK, March 22.—For the first time in its history, New York State is to have an official summer capital. It is learned that Gov. Smith has accepted the offer of Major-General Leslie Kincaid, president of the American Hotels Corporation, to use the entire twelfth floor of the new $2,500,000 Half Moon Hotel on the beach at Coney Island as an executive mansion during the summer months. The hotel will open May 1.

$37<sup>50</sup>

SEVERAL months ago the clothing buyer of Stix, Baer & Fuller and the buyers of the other 17 large stores with which we are affiliated, purchased woolens in one enormous lot from one of the leading woolen mills. In this way they obtained important price concessions. The woolen manufacturer then distributed the woolens to various clothing makers as designated by the 18 buyers. Our Suits were made for us according to our own specifications, in the season's authentic and favored styles. Thus we are able to offer to men of St. Louis and vicinity extreme values in these high-grade Two-Trouser Suits at the low price of $37.50

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
AUTO INSURANCE LAW
ADVOCATES ORGANIZE

Group Will Work to Compel Drivers to Carry Liability Protection.

The Missouri Association for Compulsory Automobile Insurance, an organization for promoting legislation to compel all drivers of automobiles to carry liability protection, was formed at a luncheon at the City Club yesterday.

Louis Martin Wolfe, attorney with offices in the Times Building, was elected president; Mrs. W. R. Chivvis, attorney and former executive of the Missouri State Federation of Women's Clubs, was elected vice president, and Miss Bessie B. McBride of 5273 Genevieve avenue, secretary.

In explaining the workings of the proposed law, Wolfe said such a measure would be equally beneficial to the driver and to the citizen who faces injury or death through accident. Many irresponsible drivers, he pointed out, are unable to pay damages for personal injuries or even the doctor's bills of the injured, thus causing a double hardship to be imposed upon their victims. He said an increase in insurance rates as a result of such a law would be improbable, as rates decreased in Massachusetts following adoption of a similar law. Connecticut also passed such a law recently, and compulsory insurance bills have been proposed in New York, Maryland, Rhode Island, Indiana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, Illinois, North Carolina, Oregon and Utah.

In support of the proposed measure, Dr. S. J. Palmer of 1425 Hickory street, pointed out that physicians often are unable to collect for services to persons injured in automobile accidents where responsibility rests on others. He said he had furnished $100 worth of free bandages in the last year.

INDIANA SENATE OVERRULES IMPEACHED JUDGE'S DEMURRER

Trial Will Proceed; Four News-boys, Arrested on Dearth's Order, to Testify.

By The Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 22.—The State Senate today overruled a defense demurrer to the impeachment trial of Judge Clarence W. Dearth of the Delaware County Circuit Court and the trial will proceed.

The vote was 43 ayes and 1 no.

Senator James J. Neidt (Rep.) of Lake County cast the negative vote.

Dearth then, in a loud voice, pleaded not guilty.

The defense demurrer had attacked the constitutionality of the law of 1917, under which the articles of impeachment were voted.

Allegations against Dearth are that he permitted irregularities in selection of jury commissioners, and interfered with freedom of the press by suppressing an issue of the Post-Democrat editor. Dearth has several times been cited for contempt by Dearth.

Senator Earl W. Payne, a member of the Senate, declared today efforts had been made yesterday to intimidate and influence him in the case. Payne is a Democrat, representing Brown, Monroe and Green counties.

The matter was dropped at that point, however. The Senate then, by a vote of 41 to 8, denied the defense motion that it be given a list of witnesses.

AUTO LICENSE CASES JAM POLICE COURTS

186 Drivers Arraigned for Failure to Obtain 1927 Plates in Time.

With 916 persons arrested yesterday in the opening campaign against those who failed to obtain proper vehicular licenses for 1927, particularly State and City automobile licenses, the Police Courts were crowded to capacity this morning with 186 persons present under charges of driving motor vehicles without 1927 city licenses.

There were 51 in Judge Beck's division and 132 in Judge Rosecan's, and the fixed policy in both courts was to assess $3 costs if the driver showed he had obtained the proper license since his arrest. In those few cases where licenses had been obtained and left at home when the arrest occurred, and where the auto owner lived outside the city limits, the charges were dismissed.

All seats in both courts were occupied and the aisles were packed, but congestion was relieved by the fact that each police district sent but one officer as a prosecuting witness.

Judge Rosecan disposed of 327 police court cases in an hour and 50 minutes. With his 132 city license cases, he assessed costs in 96, discharged defendants in 27, continued eight, and fined one man $10 for failure to appear.

The larger part of 916 persons arrested are charged with failure to have State licenses. Warrants will be issued against these drivers by the Prosecuting Attorney and they will be let off on payment of $4.85 costs if they obtain licenses before they are arraigned in Court of Criminal Correction. Other offenders taken in the roundup were chauffeurs and drivers of horse-drawn vehicles who were without the proper licenses.

EUROPE'S FEAR OF NEW BALKAN WAR SUBSIDE

British, French and German Governments Exert Influence to Avert Jugoslav-Italian Clash.

TRYING TO AVOID ACTION BY LEAGUE

France Advises Caution and Jugo-Slav Foreign Minister Apologizes for Insult to Italian Envoy.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, March 22.—The tension arising out of the Italo-Jugo-Slavian controversy, brought to the fore by Italy's allegations that the Jugo-Slavians were mobilizing troops on the Albanian frontier, has relaxed.

It appears as though the war alarm is subsiding as rapidly as it arose. This was attributed to the prompt steps taken by the Paris, Berlin and London Governments. After an exchange of views yesterday between the various capitals, there was further negotiation today. It was announced that nothing would be left undone to settle the question to the satisfaction of all concerned and to find a way to prevent a recurrence of the trouble.

The diplomatic efforts are understood to be directed largely toward satisfying Italy without having to invoke the good offices of the League of Nations Council. Italy declined to accept the authority of the Council in 1923 in the dispute with Greece over the island of Corfu.

But the summoning of the Council still remains a possibility, and the powers interested will not hesitate to do this should the situation show further signs of becoming aggravated.

France Advises Caution. Jugo-Slavians have made repeated denials of alleged military preparations with a view of fomenting trouble in Albania. Notwithstanding this, the Italian newspapers continue to publish stories of machinations in Jugo-Slavia for an Albanian insurrection.

France, having Jugo-Slavia more or less under her wing, has counseled the Belgrade Government to act with the utmost caution. The British minister called at the Jugo-Slav foreign office yesterday and counseled moderation.

When the Italian minister at Belgrade attended yesterday's session of the Jugo-Slav Parliament, there was a demonstration by the opposition that compelled a suspension of the sitting. Later when the national assembly resumed the session, the foreign minister expressed the deep regret of the Jugo-Slav Government over the insult to the Italian minister.

No Acute Danger, Stresemann Tells Reichstag. BERLIN, March 22.—Discussing the Balkan situation today in the Reichstag, Foreign Minister Stresemann said it would be well to discount a large percentage of the alarming reports in circulation. So long as he was able to judge from Germany, there was no acute danger.

The desire of all European nations to bring about the peaceful reconstruction of Europe was such, he thought, that any act tending toward such reconstruction would be commended by the whole world.

It was Dr. Stresemann's first speech in the Reichstag since the recent meeting of the League of Nations Council in Geneva. Commenting on Germany's international position, he said:

"Germany has but one interest, and that is the peaceful development of the world. She will not be interrupted in her efforts for attaining international co-operation with this end in view shall not be disturbed."

CHINESE PIRATES ATTACK VESSEL NEAR HONGKONG. A European Passenger Reported Sounded: Looted Ship Allowed to Proceed.

By the Associated Press. HONGKONG, March 22.—The China Steam Navigation Co. ship, Hopang, bound from Shanghai for Hongkong, has been looted by pirates near Bias Bay, 46 miles from Hongkong.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, March 22.—One European passenger was wounded, says a dispatch from Hongkong, when the pirate vessel released the vessel. The pirate vessel was looted and the Hopang now is en route to Hongkong.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, March 22.—The House of Commons, in a debate on the control of the Opium trade, was adjourned at midnight.

Voters Approved Political Dishonesty.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I AM very tired having the Post-Dispatch tell me how honest, patriotic and high-minded the people are in contrast with the traitorous conduct of our public men. The fact is the "people" are at heart dishonest, their motto being "Get while the getting's good, and get all you can." The record of juries in the past with one or two exceptions, bears out this statement. The politicians cannot be better than their source, the "people." That the "people" approve of dishonesty in public office is shown every day.

Perhaps the most convincing approval of traitorous and dishonest conduct was given in the last presidential election. The wholesale looting of the veterans fund by Forster (all of which was known to Harding and his cohorts), the well-known corrupt practices of Fall, Daugherty and others was vigorously discussed during the campaign. When candidate Coolidge was asked to give his views on the subject all he could say was "Well, the wonder is it was not worse." Notwithstanding this amazing reply, the "people" put him back in office by the biggest majority a presidential candidate ever received. For your information and enlightenment I will say that the "people" see nothing wrong in the alleged dishonest practices of our politicians.

"A Public Service."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
In line with the resolution recently adopted by the Keystone Class for Men in the Lafayette Park Methodist Sunday School, to express its appreciation of any outstanding work of any newspaper, organization or individual, we are sending this letter to you. The subject for special commendation is your outstanding editorial on the Nicaragua and Mexico problems, and especially your more recent editorial, "How We Got Out of Nicaragua." In handling these problems as you have, we think that you have done a real public service, especially in bringing to light the real situation and facts behind this propaganda. Kindly accept this as just a little encouragement to keep up the good work.

THE KEYSTONE CLASS,
By DR. W. K. JACOBS, Teacher.

Where We Fall Short.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
ST. LOUIS is my adopted home. It has been my home for 15 years, during which time my work as a mechanical engineer has taken me over the U. S. A. and Canada several times. I have observed that Canal street in New Orleans is about twice as wide as Olive street will be when widened.

That the street cars in St. Louis are scheduled slower than most other cities of her class.

That street cars in Cleveland have a certain right of way over vehicles and other traffic which almost doubles their ability to make speed down town and elsewhere.

That when St. Louis was fifth city it was only through the courtesy of a statistician a stranger found this out, while since the honor fell to Cleveland they advertise it on bills of fares, stationery and many other ways to attract the visitor.

That improvements going on in Chicago along the lake front were placarded with huge painted signs, lighted at night telling the world what was taking place.

That our wreck along Olive street would be more pleasing to visitors if we did as Chicago in telling the world what we are doing.

But I have boasted for 15 years and am continuing to spread the good word.

OLD ST. LOUIS TRAVELER, Opelousas, La.

Remember the Children.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
DR. STARKLOFF says in regard to the daylight-saving plan. "If we don't have good health in a community we won't have a good community." Quite true. But has he forgotten his former statement, that the daylight-saving plan would work a hardship on the children? Or is he thinking only of the pleasure of a few grown-ups?

My children are no longer young, but I very well remember how the loss of rest affected them when we had daylight saving; but as it was a wartime necessity we knew that it must be tolerated. For the sake of the children, let us not save at their expense. EXPERIENCE.

City Support for Symphony.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Why cannot the Symphony Orchestra be made a civic asset, with the new city auditorium to be constructed, that would be by all means the proper home for such an organization.

And, as in Mexico, the city as a whole should support such an institution. Why not begin an initiative movement to make it a municipal institution, such as our Public Library, Zoological Garden, Playgrounds and pastimes? Do not let it die.

CHARLES W. LAGAN.

CHINESE NATIONALISM MARCHES ON.

Nationalism goes marching on in China. The most significant thing about the capture of Shanghai by the Cantonese army under Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek was that the city was taken without a battle. Another significant incident mentioned in the reports is that thousands of soldiers of the Northern army joined the Cantonese army.

The bloodless victory demonstrates the truth of previous advice that the Chinese of Shanghai and the Yangtze Valley were friendly to the Southern forces and their cause. The slogan "China for the Chinese," is evidently more powerful than arms. Nationalism and the revolt against foreign domination are winning the victories for the progressive and democratic South.

The Nationalists have now reached the heart of China and center of foreign domination. The complete demoralization and disorganization of the army which was expected to oppose them indicate further advances and eventual control of China. But the final outcome is in the lap of the gods.

The thing to be reckoned with is the revolutionary movement for the complete control of China by the Chinese and the admission of China into the society of nations upon a plane of equality. No matter what happens to one General or one army, or one particular movement, it is evident that the great movement will go on, with the adherence of more and more of the Chinese people.

Undoubtedly, the representatives of foreign nations recognize the futility of resisting this movement. But the situation is delicate and dangerous. The danger exists not in the intention of the foreign forces to resist the Nationalists, but in the chances of collision which may lead to serious trouble. Gen. Chiang has promised protection to foreigners, but can he keep his promise? Are his troops sufficiently disciplined to be held in check when there is so much opposition to foreign intervention and hatred of foreigners? The immediate danger is the Shanghai mob, composed largely of the remnants of the Northern army.

Clashes have taken place between British troops and the mob. Late dispatches report a fight in which a number of Chinese were killed and wounded. What clashes of this kind, in which blood is spilled on both sides, may lead to cannot be foretold. They feed the fire of hatred on the part of the Chinese and stir the desire for reprisal and revenge on the part of the foreign troops, who are probably straining at the leash.

The next few days will tell the story. If restraint is exercised by the commanders of foreign troops and Gen. Chiang can control his own troops, order will be restored. Otherwise there will certainly be the beginning at least of war, which would be the greatest possible calamity.

The nations represented in China should exercise wisdom and prudence. It is difficult to settle revolts against foreign injustice and oppression by peaceful methods. But it may be done. One thing is certain: that arms cannot stop the movement for nationalism and democracy in China. The sentiment is worldwide among peoples who have suffered oppression by powerful nations. It is particularly strong in China, where the ambition to be free is blended with popular hatred of all foreigners.

The general recognition of the rights of China and the justice of the nationalistic cause helps. Persistence in following this policy, which foreign nations with interests in China have recognized in principle, is the only possible solution of the problem.

GREAT CHANCE FOR FORTUNE TELLERS.

The fortune-telling colony at Wellston ought to be much happier this week than it was last. Last week it suffered the humiliation of seeing its ranking seer, the Great Khiron, possessor of the occult secrets of the Orient, exposed in a divorce suit as a Scandinavian named Johnson. Like most husbands, he fooled everybody but his wife.

This week the colony has a real opportunity, something more in its line. It can prove its ability to read the future by telling us whether the Legislature is going to pass the bill excluding fortune-telling from the State. If the assembled crystal gazers at Wellston cannot foresee the outcome of a matter so vital to their own fortunes as that, we cannot see how they can expect the community to believe they can read the future at all.

Representative Jones Parker is the author of the proposal to drive fortune-telling from the State. His bill has passed the House, and it is now in the Senate. Mr. Parker, a St. Louis lawyer, wants to see the State follow the example of the city. It first drove the fortune tellers across the border by ordinance, and he would have the Legislature drive them beyond the borders of the State by law.

How is it coming out, Mesdames and Messieurs Mystics?

SECRET DIPLOMACY IN THE BALKANS.

The reports of ostensible preparations for war by both Italy and Jugoslavia, along with rumors of a threatened revolt in Albania, are further warning to the world that the game of imperialistic politics which Mussolini has been playing in Southeastern Europe is likely to result as disastrously as such a game usually does.

The aim of this game, it has all along been apparent, is to make of the Adriatic an Italian lake. While this dream may have actuated Italian diplomacy against the arrival of Mussolini, it made such an overwhelming appeal to his delusion of imperial grandeur that he had no sooner achieved power than he attempted to bring about its realization.

But it is his method of achieving his imperialistic aims, rather than the aims themselves, that constitutes such a menace to the peace of Europe. That method is simply the old, discredited one of secret diplomacy. He has covered Europe generally, and the Balkans in particular, with a network of secret treaties. Today Italy has agreements containing secret clauses with practically every Power in Southeastern Europe. It has frequently been charged by authorities on European politics that these treaties contain provisions which, if published, would precipitate a number of wars.

All that is needed now to bring about another war calamity is, in fact, a happening like that at Sarajevo. Mussolini has set the stage.

Sapir's lawyer is going to undertake to show how much money Mr. Ford has. In our opinion that would be more impressive than the fact that it could impress us, since neither of us could realize it.

PINCHOT ON POWER.

Former Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania has addressed an identical letter to the Governors of 48 states on the subject of hydro-electric power. A private monopoly of this great natural resource threatens, he says. He denounces it as a menace which is already profiting ruthlessly by charging the small consumer exorbitant rates.

Discussing conditions in Pennsylvania, with which he is naturally most familiar, Mr. Pinchot says that the average increase in the value of the stock of 10 holding companies which control the power and light corporations in that State has been 296 per cent. For four of those companies the average increase was 1000 per cent and in one instance was 10,000 per cent. All this in the five-year period between 1920 and 1925.

The immediate purpose of the Pinchot letter is to find out what these holding companies are doing in other states. He asks Gov. Baker to secure figures for Missouri.

Pending Gov. Baker's inquiry and report attention may be directed to the growth in earnings of the North American Co., which controls the Union Electric Light and Power Co. of St. Louis, as recently reported in the Post-Dispatch. The net operating revenue of the North American, according to the Federal Trade Commission, increased from $7,000,000 in 1919 to $21,000,000 in 1924. In 1925 it acquired the Mississippi River Power Co. (Keokuk dam), possession of which plant put the North American in control of 7 per cent of the country's total commercial power, or second only to the 8.3 per cent quota of the Insull interests.

Mr. Pinchot charges the power monopoly with defeating the Boulder Dam bill in the last Congress because of the provision permitting the Government to build electrical generating works and sell the current. The same monopoly, he declares, is determined to get control of Muscle Shoals, or at least fight to the last to prevent Government operation of that plant as contemplated by the plan of Senator Norris of Nebraska.

Mr. Pinchot points out that he is not advocating Government ownership. He insists, however, that the Federal and State governments should protect the small consumer of electric power against excessive rates—against such rates, for example, as have enabled the power companies of Pennsylvania to make outrageous profits. The fairness of that position cannot be challenged. To that end it may be hoped that Gov. Baker will co-operate with Mr. Pinchot by ascertaining the Missouri figures.

SO SPAKE JOHN JOSEPH.

In this day of crime waves, it is interesting to recall the brilliant coup of John Joseph Kloeher, who has just died in Coffeyville, Kan. There was a crime wave in John Joseph's day, and he solved it all by himself.

In October, 1892, the Dalton gang, which was the crime wave, descended upon Coffeyville and raided the two banks. Kloeher, who had come to this country from Germany some years before, owned a livery stable there and was very skillful with a Winchester rifle. When the Dalton gang arrived they made the mistake of tying their horses at a spot commanded by the livery stable.

While a posse was getting four of its men killed in open battle with the Daltons, Kloeher, with his Winchester, took his stand at the stable and waited for the gang to rejoin the horses. He counted on the momentary delay in remounting to offer him a good shot.

And Kloeher, in the parlance of sport, proved himself a money shooter. There was a momentary delay. Kloeher's Winchester barked once and again and again. Bob and Grat Dalton and Bill Broadwell fell dead. It was a great piece of marksmanship, as well as one of primitive statesmanship. There was no chance that legal technicalities would be used to reverse John Joseph's decision.

We do not know whether Shakespeare or Kit Marlowe wrote Shakespeare, but we do know that Mr. Ford is utterly absolved of writing Mr. Ford's Own Page in the Dearborn Independent.

TOO MANY FOREIGN POLICIES.

Senator Borah says we have four foreign policies—one for very small nations, one for small nations, one for large nations and one for the very large nations.

He believes we should have one foreign policy for all nations, and a consideration of what too many foreign policies come to must compel agreement with him. We have two considerable bodies of public opinion upon this subject. Senator Borah, as chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, is the spokesman of one. Notwithstanding he occasionally breakfasts with Mr. Coolidge, he is persistent and outspoken in his opposition to the administration foreign policies in Mexico and Nicaragua.

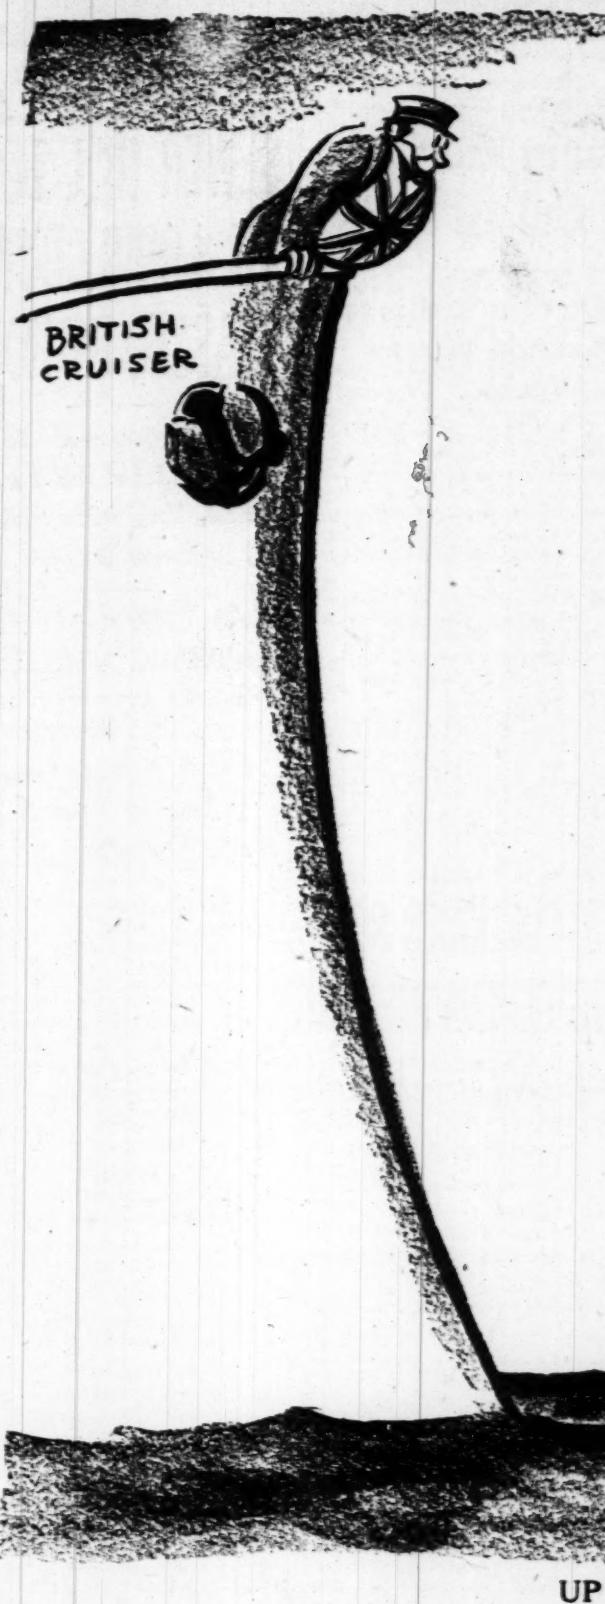

What the other school of opinion thinks is frankly expressed in the weekly Liberty. It says editorially that "destiny is still busy, and 75 years from now the inhabitants of Nicaragua, Mexico et al will be singing The Star-Spangled Banner and scoffing at the idea that anyone would return to the old Governments."

We will have to decide between those opposing opinions. It seems unlikely that we can do that while Mr. Coolidge is President, because he is too light-footed to stand anywhere very long. He is one day actively occupying Nicaragua, and the next day rejecting a protectorate over her. He is one day upon the verge of war with Mexico, and the next day without any apparent apprehension of trouble. Under a more stable administration, with somebody rather bigger in diplomacy than Mr. Kellogg, perhaps we can hope to agree officially that Senator Borah is right.

Otherwise we would be casting every moral scruple aside, and we would ultimately take over all the territory between the Rio Grande and the Panama Canal. There is no part of it but contains something we could in time use, nor is there any people down there so unmusical that they could not learn to sing The Star-Spangled Banner about as well as we do.

If we have a friend left in Latin-America after the unthinking policies of Messrs. Coolidge and Kellogg it is because of the protests of Mr. Borah and those who agree with him. The way we are going is not the way in which we can serve the mutual interests of both the United States and Latin-America, either moral or material.

We have too many foreign policies.

THE BOOTLEG TERROR.

From Editor and Publisher:
A GANG of men wearing flour sacks over their heads stopped the driver of an automobile on a country road in Georgia on the night of Feb. 25, pulled him from his seat, flogged him with straps, sticks, and fists, and flung his unconscious body on a highway bridge. When the victim revived he dragged himself home, and the Sheriff offered $100 reward for the apprehension of his assailants.

The man was H. M. Flanders, editor of the Soperton (Ga.) News. He is a cripple, having six years ago been shot by a thug because of an editorial printed in the News. The man who flogged the editor last week told him as he was lying in the road that they would "learn him what to print in his paper."

What was the animus toward Mr. Flanders? Why, he had editorially complained of lack of enforcement of the dry laws in his country. He had said that it seemed to him as if "God had forgotten Soperton." He said that local citizens were profiting as bootleggers, defying principle and civic decency in order to get rich quick. That was the offense.

Home rule for Scotland. From the Los Angeles Express.
SCOTLAND now demands freedom to govern herself. The Scots ask a place and a vote in the British commonwealth of nations. They want independence similar to that of the Irish Free State, with a national Parliament sitting in Scotland and their own executive. And to express their demand and impress it upon British statesmen, a Scottish national movement has been organized.

Although the Scotch have been less demonstrative than the Irish, they have been equally restless under English rule. Since union was forced on them in 1707, they have dreamed of independence. The demand grows for restlessness of the Scotch Parliament as it existed before the union.

COLLEGE WOMEN AND MARRIAGE.

From this week's Liberty.
ONLY about half of the women who have gone to college marry, is the information given in an article in this week's Liberty by Catharine Brody. This conclusion is the result of a survey of co-educational schools and schools for women, conducted over the whole country. "The average marriage rate of a large proportion of living graduates was found to be 33.1 per cent."

The writer points out the following about 17 years for a graduating class to enter matrimony, no more than 50 per cent would have been married at the end of that time. The medium marriage age is 27 years and three months. From 10 to even 20 per cent more co-eds marry, as nearly as can be gathered from the survey, than the writer adds, "than the alumnae of women's colleges."

The opinion is that a different type and class of girls goes to the co-educational schools—one that would probably marry more readily, irrespective of college, than the kind that attends the women's schools. The percentage of male graduates, both at co-ed and nonco-ed colleges, that marry is usually from 15 to 20 per cent greater than the percentage of alumnae.

VACUUM ENERGY. By Clarence H. Swezey, J. S. Ogilvie, N. Y. I would appear that the lords of materialistic science are losing something of their magical power over the credulities of the masses. During the Victorian era they seemed always about to turn everything in terms of science (which was then composed of very small, very hard pellets and a few simple-minded people) into a relation of these pellets to the masses that was formed of them. But since the hard little pellets were given up and there seems to be only motion, a lot of simple-minded people, and some not so simple-minded, have begun to wonder if there may not be a little self-kidding among the learned. There has just appeared a very provocative work by a very fine thinker and scholar under the audacious title, "Science, the False Messiah." There are many indications that, right or wrong or neither, the reaction against materialistic science has begun, and the rebels range from primitive ignoramuses to savants and philosophers.

In "Vacuum Energy" it is to be found another symptom of the mood that is certainly growing.

Mr. Swezey here sets forth earnestly and confidently a theory as to the nature of various forms of energy, "specifically electricity," which is calculated to abash, if not to demolish, the reigning experts. The principal purpose is to show that electricity is not a current; it does seem to give some reasons for his belief. Electricity, he asserts, has never been defined, for the very simple reason that no such thing exists! This will strike most readers as a poser, but the author proceeds to explain. There is nothing but motion, he tells us, and nothing can displace motion but motion. Such displacement produces a vacuum and the resultant vacuum is given the general name of electricity. Electricity is only a phase of such vacuum energy. Maybe so, and maybe not. And why shouldn't a layman do a little reasoning for his own amusement? When Mr. Swezey explains tropical heat by attributing it, not to the action of the impinging sun, but to the equatorial speed of rotation, one begins to smile. The smile grows broader when the author states that a mountain peak at the equator is cold for the same reason; for surely the mountain is actually faster than the hot plain from which it rises. It should,

VACUUM ENERGY. By Clarence S. Swasey, J. E. Oglevie, N. Y. It would appear that the lords of materialistic science are losing something of their magical power over the credulities of the masses, and this is not difficult to explain. During the Victorian era, when everything in terms of matter was then composed of small, very hard pellets and atoms (which was simply change in the relationships of these pellets or between the masses that were formed of them), but since the hard little pellets were given and there seems to be only motion, a lot of simple-minded people and some not so simple-minded have begun to wonder if there may not be a little self-kidding among the learned. There has just appeared a very provocative work by a very fine thinker and scholar under the audacious title, "Science, the False Messiah." There are many indications that, right or wrong or neither, the reaction against materialistic science has begun, and the rebels range from genuine ignoramus to savants and philosophers.

"Vacuum Energy" is to be another symptom of the mood that is certainly growing.

Mr. Swasey here sets forth earnestly and confidently a theory as to the nature of various forms of energy, "specifically electricity," which is calculated to abash, if not demolish, the reigning experts. The principal purpose is to show that electricity is not a current, but it does seem to give some support to his belief. Electricity, he asserts, has never been defined, for the very simple reason that no such thing exists! This will strike most readers as a poser, but the author proceeds to explain. There is nothing but motion, he tells us, and nothing can displace motion. Such displacement produces a vacuum and the resultant rush is given the general name of energy. Electricity is only a phase of such vacuum energy.

Maybe so, and maybe not. And why shouldn't a layman do a little reasoning for his own amusement? When Mr. Swasey explains tropical heat by attributing it, not to the angle of the impinging sunlight, but to equatorial speed of rotation, one begins to smile. The smile grows broader when our author states that a mountain peak at the equator is cold for the same reason: for surely the mountain peak at the equator is actually burning faster than the hot plain upon which it rises. It should, therefore, be hotter than the plain, shouldn't it?

An amateur scientist we might better be discussing the price of beefsteak.

The little Gray schoolhouse at Woodbury, L. I., where Walt Whitman, then 18 years old, taught school during the winter of 1837-38, was almost sold for second-hand building material when it was bought at auction for $18 by a local carpenter. But Whitman admirers fortunately came to the rescue, raised $60 to reimburse the wrecker and saved the historic timbered building for posterity. The saviors included Dumas Taylor, the composer; Edna St. Vincent Millay and the Edwin Arlington Robinson, the distinguished poets; Claude Rains, Anne Morrison and Patricia Barclay, representing the stage, and Charles Wharton Stork, the playwright.

Julia Hoyt, the actress, who owns property opposite the school, has permitted the 200-year-old structure to be removed there and left intact.

A BOOK OF ESCAPES AND HURRIED JOURNEYS, by John Buchanan, Thos. Nelson & Sons, New York.

This anthology of breathless moments, as it may well be called, is based upon a striking idea. "The truth," writes Mr. Buchanan, "seems to be that we live our lives under the twin categories of time and space, and that when the two come into conflict we get the great moment."

It is such moments of romantic breathlessness that Mr. Buchanan has collected here. There are an even dozen of them, ranging from the flight of the French royal family to Varennes in 1791 to the Railway Raid in Georgia in the spring of 1862. All the stories are strictly true.

THE AMERICAN YEAR BOOK FOR 1926. The Macmillan Co. In 1909 a group of professional, scientific and literary men, representatives of the learned societies of this country, formed a Society of Societies that was incorporated under the official name of the American Year Book Corporation.

The purpose of the organization was to issue an annual volume in which the progress of each year, in all fields of human endeavor, should be recorded for reference. The Year Book was issued for 10 years, and then dropped for several years. Publication was resumed last year by Macmillan and the American Year Book Corporation, which is composed of 45 learned societies. The editors of the 1926 volume, just published, are Albert Bushnell Hart and William M. Schuyler. Nearly 300 men and women of authority in their special fields have contributed. The great mass of material is made readily accessible by an exhaustive index.

Italy Grants Church Concession.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, March 22.—Another step toward reconciliation of church and State in Italy has been made with the abolition of the requirement of the royal "placet" on various activities of religious orders. In the past church orders, such as the Benedictines and Franciscans, have been required to obtain royal approval for important purchases and other unusual transactions. In announcing the discontinuance of the regulation, Minister of Justice Rocca said that the conditions which inspired it no longer exist, the clergy having shown themselves loyal and obedient to the laws of the State.

FIRST NIGHTS AND FIRST NIGHTERS

By Sarah Van Rensselaer

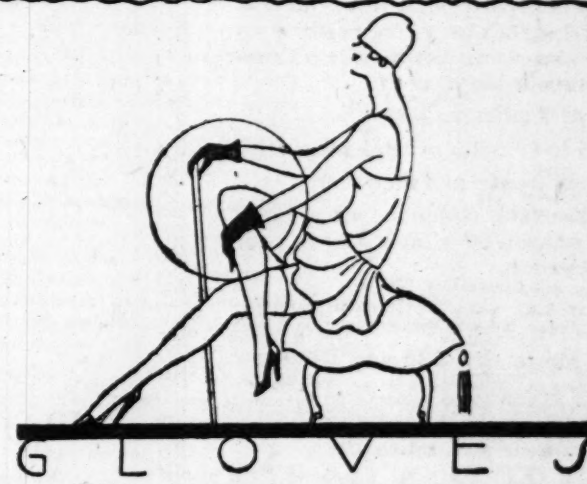

Tucked away in a tiny space in a newspaper comes announcement of the opening of Ethel Barrymore in "The Constant Wife" or of Raquel Meller or Elsie Ferguson or Ina Clair in a fresh little comedy—and, presto, the social, theatrical and fashion worlds are agog!

The evening of the event comes. In the dazzling audience disguised behind dress suits or evening gowns are seekers for the new in fashion.

Fashionists from the leading shops, designers from the manufacturers and the fashionables themselves who live but to wear the new things. One need never doubt the fashion significance of one of these "smart" openings. For even from the smallest trinket worn that shows a new idea to the most elaborate of costumes—none is saved from the relentless seekers.

Within a short time the outside world even feels the results. Now, women are wearing their silk gloves after the manner of Miss G—in the new Lonsdale comedy. The younger set have adopted for their own the brevities or little leather trunks of Italian silk copied after the chorus of the Follies. The neck bracelet introduced by Gertrude Lawrence a season back is an old fashion. And, the beige shades in hosiery that dominate the stage still dominate the fashion.

Never, is the hand more beautifully or smartly clad than in the glove of Kayser silk. In the new French shades, so lovely, one could not possibly make an incorrect choice.

GAS KILLS TWO MEN AFTER DRINKING PARTY

Empty Alcohol Bottle and Open Jet Tell Death Story at 1701 Wash Street.

A drinking party, participated in by two lodgers in the rooming house operated by Mrs. Carrie Fossell at 1701 Wash street came to an end at an undetermined hour last night. Today the men were found asphyxiated.

Mrs. Fossell smelled gas shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in her downstairs hall and traced it to the third floor room, which she had rented Sunday to Herman Stadelman, a laborer, between 55 and 60 years old, who frequently stopped at the house. Stadelman was accompanied by a man about 45 years old Mrs. Fossell never had seen.

In the room, the lodging house keeper found Stadelman dead in bed, the body of the other man crumpled against the wall near the door, an open gas-jet, and an empty alcohol bottle. One of the men had blown out the gas or, after turning off the light, again opened the jet.

Stadelman apparently was overcome by the liquor before being asphyxiated, but the position of the other man indicated he tried to reach the door to escape the fumes. Stadelman is said to have a wife living on North Twentieth street.

COOLIDGE AGREES TO OPEN SESSIONS OF NAVAL PARLEY

presentation by Viscount Cecil, England, of a complete draft of a treaty for armament reduction. Paul Boncour of France announced that later he would present a French draft which would differ from the British plan in a notable essential.

Limitation By Ship Categories.

The draft introduced by Cecil provides for carrying out naval limitation by measuring tonnage by categories of ships, as favored by the American experts. Instead of fixing the total tonnage of all warships, as advocated by the French and Italians.

Ingeniously avoiding dragging in the Council of the League, as a supervisory body, it stipulates that Germany, Great Britain, the United States, Italy, France and Japan, or the countries represented in the council, may decide upon measures to safeguard the peace of nations in case a signatory violates the treaty.

Marinis, in his declaration, said Italy would agree to drastic elimination of armaments if Italy's present armaments, which had been heavily reduced since the World War, must not be taken as a criterion of Italy's needs.

The British draft calls for limitation of land effective, which would be presumed to include reservists. It is known that the French oppose limiting the number of reservists. It fails to mention limitation of civilian aircraft, and in that respect is likely to incur the displeasure of both the French and the Italians.

SEWER BILL FOR ST. LOUIS COUNTY PASSED BY HOUSE

cently after the law was declared unconstitutional, taxpayers were notified they would have refunded to them about one-third of the amount they had paid in. The balance went for expenses, principally lawyers' fees and engineers' fees.

The Rejected Amendments.

Amendments offered by Wilson and rejected in the log rolling, sought to make these changes in the measure:

To eliminate a provision permitting a district to be wholly within the corporate limits of a city or town, and to require that a district be either wholly outside of a town, or partly in and partly out. He said there was provision under the present laws for districts within city or town limits, under which expenses would be at a minimum, each city having its regularly employed attorney and engineer.

To eliminate a provision restricting the Circuit Court in passing upon petitions for organizations of districts to the question of necessity or desirability for sewage disposal. He would have left the Court free to hear and pass upon all facts.

To place the engineering duties with the County Engineer if a district was wholly outside a city or town, and with the City Engineer if within.

To reduce the penalty on delinquent taxes from 2 per cent to 1 per cent, and reduce the fee the attorney would receive for collecting delinquent taxes from 25 per cent to 10 per cent.

To give the Circuit Court authority to pass upon the salaries and fees paid under the law.

Contains Emergency Clause.
All the amendments were defeated as rapidly as they were introduced, and the bill was passed. As it already has passed the Senate and as it contains an emergency clause, it will become effective as soon as signed by the Governor.

The old law was declared unconstitutional on a technicality, and the present measure was drawn in a manner to meet the objections of the court.

In St. Louis Mo.

Here is a reproduction of an advertisement that appeared in recent issues of the Los Angeles "Daily Times" and "Evening Herald"

One Electric bill out of approximately 3,000,000 bills rendered in St. Louis last year is the basis for this reproduced advertisement and the one selected is "confined to illumination" only.

It is a rare St. Louis home that uses electricity for illumination only. St. Louis homes use Electric Appliances as well.

THE people of Los Angeles are fortunate in enjoying low electric rates for domestic use and your electric companies are to be congratulated on their successful effort to maintain low rates.

But few large cities, if any, enjoy as low electric rates for general domestic use as does St. Louis, Mo.

In the interest of accuracy, Union Electric Light and Power Co. of St. Louis, Mo. wishes to correct the impression that domestic rates in St. Louis are higher than in Los Angeles, as given by the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light in its advertisement reproduced above. Quite the reverse is true as is disclosed by the following—

THE FACTS

- First—During the year 1926 the average St. Louis residence customer used 38 kilowatt hours per month, and paid for this service . . . . . $1.86
(and in addition received new lamps in exchange for old ones FREE)
- Second—At Los Angeles Bureau rates this service would have cost . . . . . $2.13 (no lamp renewals allowed)
- Third—Los Angeles Bureau rate is higher than St. Louis rate by . . . . . 14.5%
- Fourth—Including renewal of old incandescent lamps with new ones Free of Charge, as enjoyed by St. Louis residential customers, Los Angeles Bureau rate is Higher than St. Louis rate by approximately . . . . . 20%

SLENDER BLACK SHOES
TO BE MEN'S VOGUE

Way-Back-When Style to Be-turn, Clothiers Declare and Supercilious Clerks to Go.

Men are not the vain sex. Oh, no! But the money they spend for clothes—just to be presentable, you know—is rather significantly set forth in the divisions of three groups into which the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers split up today in its five-day convention at Hotel Statler.

"Stores with annual sales volume under $100,000" were represented in one group. Another was for stores with annual sales of $100,000 to $500,000, and the third was for those with yearly sales above $500,- 000—the sky being the limit.

Last year members of the association sold about $100,000,000 worth of clothes, and nearly 1000 of them are meeting to map out the technique and acquaint themselves with the styles whereby they hope to exceed that this year.

The most striking style suggestions so far, except the spring colors—silver gray, light tans and blue tinged with gray—was that shoes were to be black and slender; not merely the reformed brogues that combine ruggedness with some shapeliness, but all the way back to the lissom pointed toes of, well, does anyone remember when that was?

Great satisfaction for those who have encountered clothing store clerk distant as the Grand Lama of Tibet or the night clerk in a tank-town hotel, was offered by Henry B. Ober of Lawrence, Kan., yesterday in his presidential address. The supercilious clerk and his fellows cost his store 68 of every 100 customers they lose.
Ober cited from a survey which showed also that only nine customers left for lower prices and 14 changed stores because of unsatisfied grievances.

Color harmony was discussed by two of the three groups meeting today. The clothiers are harping on that sort of harmony. They will discuss it again Wednesday night, when a fall style forecast also is to be made and the whole field thrown open for the view of all the delegates. Spring and summer styles, which were outlined in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, will be officially presented at luncheon Wednesday.

The annual dinner and dance was held last night. The Missouri Retail Clothiers' and Furnishers' Association will hold its dinner tonight. Women visitors toured the city today, with tea at the Hotel Coronado. Tomorrow they will have a bridge luncheon at the Town Club. The convention will close Friday.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.,
March 22.—President Coolidge

The President, who has been

$140,000 LINDELL PAVILLION WILL BE OPENED IN JUNE

Forest Park Structure Replaces Building Destroyed by Fire More Than Year Ago.

The new Lindell pavilion in Forest Park, being erected on the site of the one destroyed by fire more than a year ago, will be ready for use about the middle of June, Park Commissioner Pape announced. The structure is new except for the tower of the old pavilion, which was left standing and will cost approximately $140,000. Work was started last fall. The pavilion is used chiefly for cockers, dressing rooms and bathing facilities furnished at a nominal fee to golfers and tennis players on the municipal links and courts. The new building will have 1800 men's lockers and about 150 women's dressing rooms. The men's section will not be equipped with dressing rooms. Showers will be provided for both sections. A golfer's supply shop and restaurant also will be features of the new structure. The date for issuance of permits for use of the lockers will be announced later. Permits were issued last year for accommodations in a temporary building.

Acidophilus [not a drug] Ends Auto-Intoxication

"I have been absolutely opposed to drugs of any kind for some years—yet suffered from Auto-Intoxication to an unusual extent. Purgatives, Laxatives, Cathartics, all been useless and harmful. . . . but here I am able to take on a good square meal without any of these remedies. . . . Nature is simply Nature impeded—which demands in the proper internal channel—supplies that channel which is lacking."

UNLIKE laxatives, lubricants, medicines, yeast, bran, etc., which temporarily help to expel intestinal poisons and gas, Acidophilus acts to permanently prevent their formation. It is Nature's drugless, harmless, non-habit creating method for ending the cause of most human ills. Nature stocked your intestines in childhood with Acidophilus—to keep your digestive tract healthy, active and safe, and your blood pure. Modern living, however, has reduced your Acidophilus supply. Faulty active germs—the creators of poison and gas in waste matter—have become the rulers. Conquer them by restoring your Acidophilus forces to normal. Then the ill of intestinal poisoning no longer can drag you down.

Now in Tasteless Tablets—Moyer's Until lately, drinking of "Acidophilus Milk" has been the principal means of supplying the body with this protection. Now a pleasant, new, convenient, rapid-acting and inexpensive form is ready—small, tasteless "Moyer's Tablets." They can be swallowed with or without water—or may be dissolved in water, milk, etc.

In each "Moyer's Tablet" about 100 millions of natural, vigorous B. Acidophilus are "put to sleep." (This is the usual present in a glass of Acidophilus Milk.) In the warm dampness of your intestines these organisms "awaken," there they thrive, fight and check intestinal poisoning by Nature's own safe drugless method.

Make This Test—At Moyer's Take "Moyer's Tablets," in capsules (four short weeks. (Costs only for capsules done.) If you don't look and feel better—if you haven't more strength, ambition and energy, Moyer's Tablets are not a laxative, drug or patent medicine. MOYER'S TABLETS The Original and Genuine B. KANSAS CITY ACQUIRES
687-ACRE AIRPORT

Peninsula on Missouri River Affords Landing Places for Wheels or Pontoons.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 22.—
Believing in its future as an aviation center, Kansas City has completed arrangements for one of the largest municipal airports in the United States. A tract of 687 acres, situated but one and four-tenths miles from the postoffice, has been leased and contracts let for air mail and civilian hang-ars.

J. Don Alexander, president of an aircraft corporation in Denver, recently inspected the site and declared it the "best field in America."

The land is a peninsula-shaped tract on the Missouri River. It is surrounded by water on three sides and will offer a landing place for seaplanes as well as land machines.
It is to be developed in two units,
each a circle 3000 feet in diameter and crossed by a diagonal direction runways 200 feet wide. The runways will be laid northeast to southwest, and northwest to southeast, thus affording possible takeoff or landing no matter what direction the wind may be from.
Experts declare that, nowhere else in America is there a field which is so close to the business district. The peninsula cuts into the river on the north side. On the south side, lining the river's banks, is the industrial district of the city.

The present field will be abandoned. It is 11 miles from the postoffice. The new field will be known as Richards Airport, in honor of Lieut. John F. Richards, the first Kansas City aviator killed in the World War.

2 WOMEN, 8 MEN CANDIDATES FOR EDUCATION BOARD

Filing Time Passes and Entries Are Closed—Four Places to Be Filled at April 6 Election.

Two women, one of whom is a Negro, and eight men are candidates for the four places on the Board of Education which are to be filled at the municipal election on April 6. Time for filing the nonpartisan petitions of candidacy ended last night.

Candidates of three men who were backed by the Democratic City Committee were not filed, although two of them at least had begun to campaign. Another candidate, Howard G. Cook, failed to place on the board because there were only 3341 signatures of voters on his petitions, instead of the required minimum of 3606.

Nominations for the Board of Education, in the effort to keep the board out of politics, are solely by petition. Formerly 1000 signatures were required, but now 2 per cent of the number of voters at the last previous board election is the minimum.

List of the Candidates.

The candidates whose names will appear on the nonpartisan ballot and the number of signatures to their petitions are:

Mrs. Julia Childs Curtis, a Negro, wife of Dr. W. P. Curtis, of 4215 Finney avenue, 5483. This is believed to be the first time a Negro has run for the board.

Dr. Paul E. Eckardt, a dentist, of 2027 South Jefferson avenue, 5902.

Miss Eleanor D. Horton, vice president of the Lewis W. Thomson & Co., securities, former president of the Town Club and daughter of the late William M. Horton, who was vice president of the old City Council, residing at 5246A Waterman avenue, 5953.

George W. Johnson, an attorney, of 2854A Missouri avenue, 5838.

Myrt A. Rollins, an attorney, now finishing a two-year term on the board and seeking a full, six-year term, of 5934 Wabada avenue, 6880.

Henry P. Schroeder, president of the Table Queen Products Co., of 4869 Marfitt place, 7423.

Dr. David C. Todd, a physician, former president of the Municipal Athletic Association, of 5669 Cabanne avenue, 4003.

Stephen M. Wagner, a commission merchant and now president of the Board of Education, seeking re-election, of 3708 Meramec street, 10,314.

Fred Weismann, an attorney of 1707A Franklin avenue, 4981.

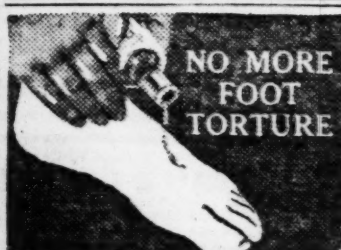

Arthur S. Werremeyer, a printer and stationer and member of the Citizens' Supervisory Board Issue Committee, of 2907 Sullivan avenue, 7500.

Three Democratic Choices Out.

The prospective candidates backed by the Democratic City Committee, who failed to file, were Ernest A. Green, president of the St. Louis Bar Association; George T. Priest, an attorney and son of former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest, and Walter F. Sheehan, a real estate dealer. Green told friends he feared there were insufficient signatures on his petition and decided not to permit them to be filed, to avoid questions.

Sheehan said he had refused to circulate his own petition and had not seen it. He understood the Democratic City Committee was going to handle the matter but late yesterday he told the committee not to file it. He explained that he thought the system of nomination was wrong, as it tended to make candidates lose their self-respect in seeking signatures, and to bear expense to get what is and should be only an honorary office. He suggested nominations by conventions or party committees, but not by direct primary. Priest did not take an active part in his own candidacy, and the Democratic committee was not openly active for any of the

Dandruff Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Don't Sit Up With Neuralgia!

There's nothing more agonizing than to be kept awake half the night by the fiendish pains of neuralgia. Such attacks usually follow exposure to cold or dampness, which causes an inflammation of the nerves about the face or head. The sufferer experiences a boring sensation in the temples, or a feeling as if weights were pulling at the eye-balls. Perhaps the whole side of the face feels numb, yet tingles under the least pressure.

It is now a simple matter to relieve neuralgia without using dangerous drugs. Apply Tysol over the painful region and see how quickly it stops the misery. The inflamed nerves begin at once to heal, the awful headache ceases and you again know the joy of sound, refreshing sleep.

Tysol is fine for nerve pain of any kind, whether due to neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica or rheumatism. Thousands of people use it for taking the misery out of swollen, aching joints. Greatest thing you ever saw for limbering up a stiff, painful back. Guaranteed harmless—no dope. Price 15c. Wolff-Wilson Drug Stores, Walgreen Drug Co. and good drug stores everywhere.

During 1926 the Post-Dispatch printed 6654 Classified Instruction "Wants"—2151 more than the nearest competitor and 3573 more than the TWO other St. Louis evening newspapers combined.

Melvin Reagan Also Sentenced for Later Burglary in Which He Obtained Thirteen Cents in Cash.

Pleading guilty of felonious wounding with an automobile and of a burglary in which he obtained 13 cents, Melvin Reagan, 21 years old, a chauffeur, of 4607 Delmar boulevard, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Percy yesterday.

On the recommendation of Assistant Circuit Attorney Stack, a three-year sentence was imposed on each count, to run concurrently, and a charge of feloniously leaving the scene of an accident was dismissed. Usually, when a man pleads guilty of felonious wounding he is given a two-year sentence.

On April 5, at Grand boulevard and Market street, a grocery truck driven by Reagan struck and seriously injured Miss Nora Walker, 25, of 3436 Rutger street. The machine did not stop and Reagan was arrested after the license number had been traced.

He was under bond in the automobile case, on Nov. 20, last, when policemen found him and a youth who said he was John B. Smith, hiding in the basement of a store at 311 De Baliviere avenue, where a side window had been forced.

Reagan had 13 cents on his person and Smith had 17 cents. The storekeeper said he had left 20 cents in the cash register, all of which had been taken. Reagan and Smith were jointly charged with burglary, but Smith jumped his bond.

The Executive Committee of the Citizens' School Board Committee will meet Thursday to select four of the candidates for its endorsement, planning to work for election of what this city-wide organization may think are the best qualified candidates. The League of Women Voters voted today to make no endorsements.

Meeting in Vandervoort's auditorium yesterday, about 75 members of the league heard brief addresses by some of the candidates—Mrs. Horton, Werremeyer, Rollins, Mrs. Curtis and Sheehan, who said he did not know at the time whether his petition was being filed. Former Attorney General Barrett, a Republican, appeared in behalf of Green, and Schroeder was represented by a friend. Rollins.

TIRED STOMACHS COME TO LIFE

And Digest Heavy Meals
Just Like a Boy

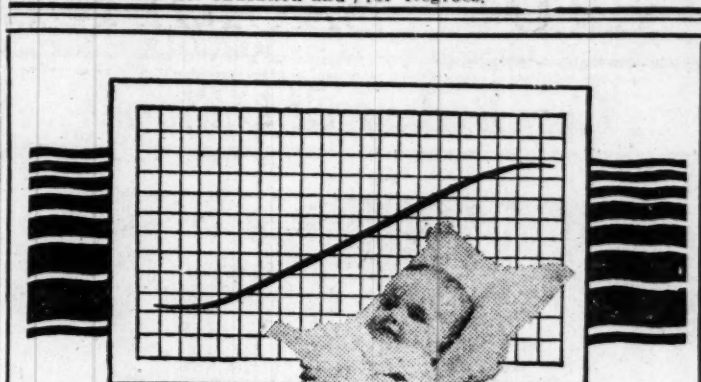

Diapensin is probably the most powerful aid there is when the stomach seems worn out. It enables you to get away with foods that so often cause the utmost misery. Pie, cheese, cream, sausage, seasoned stews and foods that frighten a dyspeptic even to think of, are as modified milk to a cooling infant when followed by Diapensin.

A host of people are denying themselves half the pleasure of life hunting for potent, prepared foods that don't meet their needs. For after all it is the state of the stomach secretions that counts. Diapensin adds to the secretions and actually works on the starches, meats, eggs, cream, etc., and that is what a tired, feeble stomach needs.

Why Babies gain so fast ...when they get good Cod-Liver Oil

No wonder you notice the difference in your child when you add Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil to his diet!

It is so rich in growth-promoting, resistance-increasing power! One teaspoonful contains as much Vitamin A as six quarts of grade A milk.

Such concentrated richness is not ordinarily found. The reason Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is so unusually effective is that Squibb prepares it with unusual care.

As a result of the superior quality of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil its power to do good is multiplied and its palatability is improved.

Keeps Your Neckline Beautiful

There is nothing more disfiguring than a goiter. Goiter and other deficiencies of the thyroid gland (due to a lack of iodine in the diet) are common human ailments—especially amongst young women.

The regular use of Hardy's Iodized Salt in cooking and at table, will prevent simple goiter and keep the thyroid gland healthy; thus insuring a firm and beautiful neckline.

Hardy's Iodized Salt contains the exact amount of iodine recommended by physicians. Yet in taste, color, strength, price and free-running qualities, it is just like our regular high-grade table salt.

Q. Why is the Rubber from the United States Rubber Plantations especially strong and flexible?

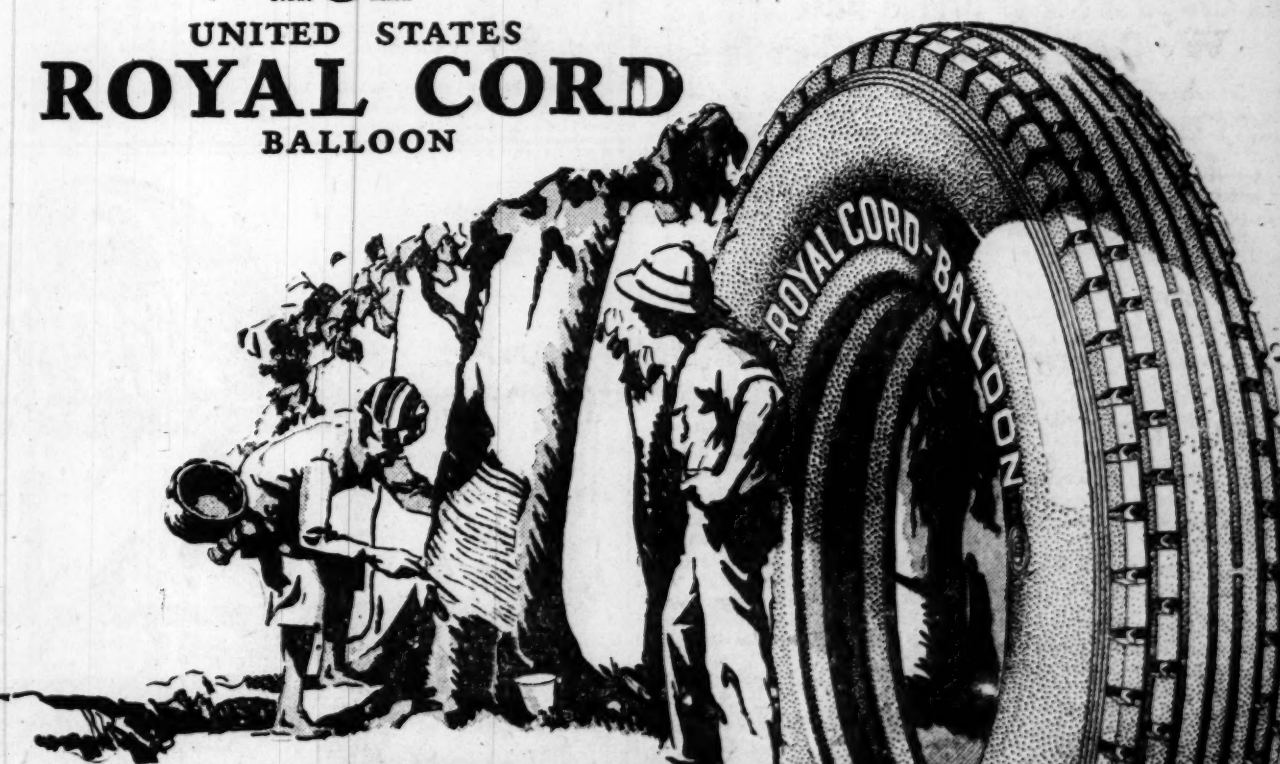

A. Rubber responds to scientific growing methods, just as wheat, cotton and farm crops do.

From first to last, rubber is grown for quality on these Plantations. Seed is selected for quality. The trees are bud-grafted—for quality. They are fertilized for quality—cultivated constantly and clean. Consequently, they yield exceptionally fine latex, which gives stronger and more flexible rubber, and better tires.

The United States Rubber Plantations enjoy an international reputation as the headquarters of scientific rubber cultivation.

DAVE KNOT, ST. LOUISAN, WINS NATIONAL AMATEUR BOXING TITLE

GHNOULY AND FRYER REACH FINAL ROUND

Three Other Western District Champions Eliminated in Semifinals of Junior A. A. U. Championship.

CINCINNATI, March 22.—Dave Knot, heavyweight, was the only member of the team of seven St. Louisans to win his division championship in the National Amateur Athletic Union Junior boxing tournament, concluded here last night. Knot knocked out two of his opponents and defeated the third on points in the final last night. In thus winning the junior championship he became eligible for the national senior title tournament at Boston, the winners of which will represent the United States in the Olympic Games at Antwerp next year.

There were eight members of the Western District team here from St. Louis, seven of them being St. Louisans and one, Dwight J. Fryer, from Little Rock. Fryer, a lightweight, and Joe Ghnoully, a bantamweight, went all the way to the finals, with Knot, Ghnoully was outpointed in the final by Eddie Law of Philadelphia, and Fryer lost a point decision to Pete Caesar of New York.

New York, with three champions, won the team title and the silver trophy. St. Louis was second, having won one title and having won two "seconds."

There were 61 elimination bouts in the tournament.

The finals resulted as follows:

Senay Swinger, Cleveland, won the flyweight title by defeating Gene Bianco, Boston.

Eddie Law, Philadelphia, won the bantam title when he defeated Joe Ghnoully, St. Louis.

Tommy Shay, Cincinnati, won the featherweight championship by defeating Louis Lafferty Jr., Philadelphia.

Pete Caesar, New York, won the lightweight title by defeating James Fryer, Little Rock.

Johnny McTyran, Pittsburgh, won the welterweight title from Al Moskowitz, New York.

Joe Hanlon, New York, won the middleweight title from Anthony Ferranti, also of New York.

William O'Monroy, New York, Tom Toner of New York.

To Try for More Honors

CAPT. ROLAND BAER (Left) and CALVIN LEDBETTER.

These Washington University swimming stars will compete in the annual Western A. A. U. title meet at Kansas City Saturday. Baer established a new record for the 200-yard free-style in the Missouri Valley meet at Ames, Ia., recently, while Ledbetter gained the distinction of scoring point in two meets on the same day. First he won the 100-yard dash in the Valley swim meet at Ames, and the hurled to Des Moines to capture third place in the high jump of the M. V. title competition.

Managers Schalk and Harris Suffer Injuries to Fingers

White Sox Leader Has a Nail Torn Off by Foul Tip.

"Bucky's" Digit May Be Fractured; Bob Meusel, in His First Game, Swats a Homer Into Tampa Bay.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Manager Ray Schalk, who will both manage and backstop for the White Sox this year after 14 years of plain catching, was temporarily put on the casualty list in the Sox exhibition game against Wichita Falls, Texas, yesterday, when a foul tip tore the nail off one of his fingers.

Aaron Ward, former Yankee, who will perform in Eddie Collins' place at second base this year, broke up the game in the eighth with a single when the bases were crowded, the Sox winning, 5 to 4.

Harris Hurts Finger. WASHINGTON, March 22.—An-won the light heavyweight title from James Rooney, Pittsburgh.

Dave Knot, St. Louis, took the heavyweight title on decision from William O'Monroy, New York, Tom Toner of New York.

Washington to Send Swim Team To Kansas City

Eight Stars to Compete in W. A. A. U. Title Meet, Saturday Night.

The Washington U. swimming team, Missouri Valley Conference champions for the fifth consecutive time, will depart Friday night for Kansas City to participate in the Western A. A. U. title meet. Last year the Bear squad gained a majority of the first places in the competition.

Eight swimmers will make the trip, including the entire first string, with the exception of Dyke Meyers, new sprint star, who has been ill since the conference meet. Capt. Roland Baer, who set a national 220-yard junior record at the meet last year, is expected to repeat. Baer broke the Missouri Valley Conference 220-yard record recently. Last year he set a new back-stroke record, since broken by Homer Heideman, sophomore star.

Calvin Ledbetter will swim the dashes. Larry Gilbert, another veteran, is holder of the Valley 100-yard record. Baer, Gilbert, Ledbetter and Lonnie Cohn, member of last year's squad, will compose the dash relay.

In the breast-stroke, Mend McArdle, holder of the conference record, and William Brenner, McArdle's sophomore understudy, will compete with Heideman, back-stroker, and Millstone, fancy diver, completing the team. Two medley relay teams will be entered. Heideman and Baer in the back stroke, Brenner and McArdle in the breast stroke, and Gilbert and Ledbetter in the crawl stroke.

as the club returned to its training camp at Tampa.

Bob Meusel Slugs Homer.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Babe Ruth, hobbled with a crippled leg through a game that the Yankees took from the Cincinnati Reds, 2 to 1, yesterday, had a lot to do with the victory, although the batter, slugging hit a single and Bob Meusel, in his season inaugural, belted a homer into Tampa Bay.

Rain Stops Red Sox.

BOSTON, March 22.—Bill Carrigan's hard-working Red Sox had an off day when the first rain in three weeks put an end to sunshine and diamond practice at New Orleans.

Phillips Teams Bat Hard.

PHILADELPHIA, March 22.—Connie Mack's Athletics have found their batting eyes. Until yesterday their hits had been scarce and their victories mostly due to defensive work. In defeating the Boston Braves, 3 to 2, at Fort Myers, Fla., yesterday, they gathered a total of 12 safeties, including three doubles and a home run.

The Phillies also are showing improvement in batting. Against Columbus of the American Association yesterday Manager Molina's second string squad had made 11 hits, including two doubles and two triples when rain stopped the game in the seventh inning with the score 7-7.

Pitcher Williams Released.

CINCINNATI, March 22.—Pitcher Ed Williams of the Reds, who was purchased from the Elmira (N. Y.) club last fall, has been released to that club and First Baseman Schwab has been sold to the Atlanta club under an optional agreement.

Glenn Wright Is Back.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 22.—Glenn Wright, star shortstop, who has been out of the game with an injured hand for several days, is expected to return to the Pirate lineup today. Lloyd Waner, brilliant rookie, has been ordered to rest following a slight injury to his ankle in Sunday's morning game. The Pirates defeated the Missions yesterday, 4 to 2.

Lefty Johns Stars With Tigers.

DETROIT, March 22.—Manager George Moriarty of Detroit Tigers has taken occasion to make reports that he contemplates releasing Earl Whitehill, Art Johns and Johnny Neun to the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League.

Whitehill is one of the best left-handed pitchers in baseball, he said. Johns could never be waived out of the league and there is less chance of getting Neun out. Moriarty yesterday released Jack Nounan, recruit pitcher, to Toronto of the International League.

Named Baseball Coach.

By the Associated Press. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 22.—Lewis A. Brockett of Cairo, a member of the New York American League club from 1907 to 1911, has been named to coach the Illinois College baseball team by Athletic Director W. T. Harmon. Brockett was a pitcher during his major league days and has developed teams in southern Illinois in recent years.

Hesmer Named Captain.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 22.—Coach Prehn's University of Illinois Ten Conference champion wrestling team will be led by T. C. Hesmer of Marshalltown, Ia., next season. Hesmer, a 125-pounder, was named captain at the annual banquet held last night.

Oklahoma Aggies Win.

By the Associated Press. MOUNT VERNON, Ia., March 22.—Oklahoma A. and M. College wrestlers easily defeated the Cornell College grapplers, 15 1/2 to 7 1/2, here last night.

Tony Canzoneri Favored to Beat Taylor, Saturday

CHICAGO, March 22.

THE impressive training workouts of Tony Canzoneri, New York's bantam ring star, have made him a slight favorite over the Middle West's pride, Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, for Saturday night's 10-round contest to determine the claimant for Charley Phil Rosenberg's vacant throne.

Canzoneri's speed, boxing fans agreed, was flashier than Taylor's. While the New York-er was boxing six snappy rounds yesterday with sparring partners, Taylor was getting the worst of a six-round slugging test with his helpers.

Promoter Jim Mullen has hung up a $2500 diamond belt for the match. The principals believe that Saturday's decision will be accorded general recognition as carrying the title, since Rosenberg has been barred both in Illinois and New York for failure to make the championship weight.

Canzoneri and Taylor, both natural bantams, expect to have no trouble to scale 115 pounds.

ILLINOIS WESLEYAN'S BASKET TOURNAMENT TO START THURSDAY

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., March 22.—

Illinois Wesleyan University's third annual interscholastic basketball tournament opens here Thursday with six games the first day. The 16 teams chosen by the tournament committee are Sumner, Centralia, Rock Falls, Antioch, Canton, Manitowish, Clinton, East Lynn, Pekin, Tremont, Cornell, Kankakee, Bloomington, University High of Normal, Washington and Melvin.

Another Return Bout.

Henry Malcor and Clarence "Kid" Shaulter, Illinois middleweight rivals, will renew hostilities in another six-rounder. These body builders fought an exciting draw on the last local card.

The first start bout will bring together Gene Riley, a hard-hitting local southpaw, and "Kid" Burns

Lucas and Nelson to Meet In Feature Coliseum Battle

Seven Other Matches of From Four to Six Rounds Will Be Decided Tonight—Sansone Expected to Box Winner of Main Bout.

Jimmy "Sailor" Lucas of St. Louis, meets Clifford "Digger" Nelson of East St. Louis, in a flyweight bout scheduled as the windup of four six-round contests billed as headliners of a professional boxing show to be held by Jack Tippet at the New Coliseum tonight. The star bouts will be supported by four preliminaries of four rounds each and a three-round exhibition.

Lucas and Nelson are speedy scientific boxers. Lucas captured the U. S. Navy flyweight championship several months ago. Nelson made a strong bid for world championship laurels when he met Jimmy Wilde, England's "Mighty Atom," in a British army tournament several years ago. Wilde stopped him in the seventeenth round. In recent local bouts, the East Side midweight defeated Billy Cain and Young Ketchel.

Tom Pivac of the South Broadway Club, hopes to square accounts with Harry Ethington of Mattoon, Ill., in the heavy weight feature. Pivac lost on a foul to Ethington in the second round of a previous engagement. The Mattoon heavy has scored 13 knockouts in 15 fights.

At the conclusion of the preliminary card, Isadore Moscovitz and "Phantom" Wolfe will swing into action in a three-round exhibition bout. Moscovitz is a midweight, weighing 107 pounds, while Wolfe, who is almost two feet taller than his opponent, weighs only 104 pounds.

Sansone May Get Bout.

Marion Quintet Captures Title In Cage Tourney

Defeats Mt. Vernon, 23 to 15, in Final Game of W. U. Basket Event.

The Marion High School basketball squad left the Washington high school in a happy mood in night, after defeating Mount Vernon, 1925 champions, in the final game of the seventh annual Washington U. interscholastic tourney. Marion stepped ahead early in the game and was never troubled, rolling up a total of 23 points, while Mount Vernon's 15 points were made in the first quarter, by defeating W. U. 23 to 15, one of the fastest, roughest games of the four-day meet.

In the semi-finals, Marion had defeated C. B. C. 31 to 9, and Marion had won from W. U. 23 to 15.

The championship game, played before a crowd of 1000, failed to bring forth the highest type of competition.

Marion's play was not as at the top of their form and played an erratic game, but Mount Vernon, handicapped by the loss of Dixie, center, appeared thoroughly worn out from previous contests.

The offensive, which had piled up heavy leads on opponents of earlier rounds, was entirely lacking and the defensive failed.

Chance Shots Are Good.

The new champions, who had been defeated twice by Mount Vernon in games before the tournament, scored of 23 to 6 and 17 to 12, played a hard, fast game, and took advantage of every break. The Marion squad, on many chance shots, when Mount Vernon threatened.

The game promised to bring together for comparison the two outstanding centers of the tournament, Dixie of Mount Vernon and Puley of Marion. Dixie, injured before the game, suffered a bad spill in the first quarter and was forced out. He was replaced by Ward, guard. His loss badly cri-pled the Mount Vernon squad.

Penley and Hudgens of Marion staked fair claims to distinction with their performance. Penley

Marion captain, clinched his place as one of the best guards of the meet, sharing the honors with Wood, Mount Vernon defense star.

Hudgens led Marion in scoring, with four field goals and one foul shot.

THREE KILLED IN TRAIN ENGINE EXPLOSION

Engineer, Fireman and Brakeman on C. & E. I. Dead in Salem (Ill.) Accident.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SALEM, Ill., March 22.—Three men were killed and several hundred thousand dollars' worth of damage was done to railroad equipment when a Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad locomotive exploded two miles north of this city at about 12:30 a. m. today.

The dead are D. M. Robinson of Salem, engineer; T. E. Bruce of Villa Grove, fireman, and C. M. Farlow of Villa Grove, brakeman. The three men were riding in the engine cab.

The train, No. 41, fast C. & E. I. freight, left Villa Grove at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in charge of Conductor Harry Barnett of Pana and Engineer Robinson. It was within two miles of the end of the run when the accident occurred.

So terrific was the impact that the boiler of the locomotive was torn from the frame and hurled about 100 feet clear of the track. Robinson's body was found in a car of coal back of the engine. The bodies of the other two were on opposite sides of the track in a ditch about 150 feet from the scene of the accident.

Watches on the bodies of the trainmen stopped at 12:25 a. m. Conductor Barnett, who was in the caboose, called help from the yard office nearby.

BLAZE DAMAGES STOCKS OF FIVE CLOTHING CONCERNS

Fire of Undetermined Origin Attacks Building at Eleventh and Washington Avenue.
Damage estimated at $1250 to the stocks of five clothing and hat companies was caused by a fire which started on the third floor of the five-story brick building at 1101-03 Washington avenue about 7 p. m. yesterday. A still alarm was sounded by the automatic sprinkling device.

Apparently the fire, which was of undetermined origin, started on a hat shaping table in the quarters of the Sylvia Hat Frame Co., where stock was damaged $50.

Damage in other concerns, chiefly from water, included $1000 to stock of the Zieser-Kling Ladies' Cloak & Suit Co., also on the third floor; $100 to apparel of the Olan Dress Co., and Rothman Manufacturing Co., and $100 to that of the Owens-Bruno Clothing Co., on the second floor.

A New Mystery Thriller
- By Carolyn Wells -
(Copyright, 1927.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.
GARRETT FOLSOM is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N. J. It is believed that the death weapon was a pichag, an Oriental knife, and that it was purchased on the boardwalk.

Folsom's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, takes command, and it is established that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious weapons. Sears admits buying two knives but not the pichag.

Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, Folsom's nephew, arrives and is puzzled by the curious French dolls in his uncle's room.

Croydon Sears sends for FLEMING STONE, famous detective. He tells him Folsom had been blackmailing him and he had lied at the inquest but he was innocent. Stone meets others of the circle, including NED BARRON and his wife, MADEIRA, who puzzles him.

It is learned that Carmelita Valdon has stolen some letters from Folsom's room. Stone, believing her innocent, yet accuses her of withholding some information.

CHAPTER 45.
CARMELITA VALDON stared at Fleming Stone.

Her great dark eyes seemed to grow luminous with fear, and then they became sphinx-like and inscrutable.

"You started me," she said with a light laugh. "I thought you meant it."

"I did mean it—I do mean it. You learned something that you have kept to yourself. You discovered something that leads you to a definite suspicion. This thing you must tell, or you will find yourself in serious trouble."

"Oh, no, not so bad as that."

Carmelita Valdon was again mistress of herself. Her instant fear had passed; she had come through the inquisition about her letters, and it had caused her no alarm.

"Yes, Mrs. Valdon." All at once Stone found himself on the losing side of the argument. "Yes, serious trouble," he ended up, a little lamely.

"She looked at him and smiled. 'Shot all your arrows, have you, Mr. Stone?' she bantered. 'Well, what next?'"

Stone wanted to shake her. Never before had he felt so baffled by a woman's wit. He was certain that she had no connection of any sort with the death of Garrett Folsom. But he knew, too, that she had a clew of some kind, however slight, that he would give worlds to learn.

But it was so vague, so purely imaginary on his part, that he couldn't think, at the moment, of any way to force her hand.

And she was so impossible. She was a different person from the sad-faced woman who had confessed to stealing her own letters and had admitted her relief at the death of Folsom.

Now her eyes shined, her red lips smiling, her whole being full of vivacity and charm, she leaned closer to him and whispered:

"Don't shoot any more arrows at me. I haven't done anything wrong."

"But you know who has?" she said sternly, angry at himself for being awayed by her beauty and lure.

And then, with another of her sudden changes, she became wistful, even pathetic, and tears actually appeared in her eyes.

"No. Merely a faint, slight possibility. Nothing that I can tell you."

"Very well, Mrs. Valdon," and Stone gave himself a mental shake. "I take that statement as a true one, and I shall say nothing more to you about it, until—until I too, discover that same slight possibility."

And at that he had the satisfaction of seeing her look very perplexed indeed.

They returned to the hotel, and as it was the bathing hour, Carmelita hurried away to keep an appointment, and Stone sat on the deck by himself to think things over.

As a result of his cogitations he went up to Dan Pelton's suite.

Ross, the valet Pelton had inherited from Folsom, was just leaving the room, having finished his work there.

"Going in the surf?" Stone said pleasantly.

"No, sir," Ross returned. "I can't seem to bear the sight of the ocean since—Mr. Folsom."

"Yes, I know," Stone said understandingly. "I wish we could get at the truth, Ross."

"I wish so, too, sir, but it is all so mysterious. If it had been on land, now—" land gives at least some chance of clues left on the scene, but in the ocean—not a showing."

"Not a showing, sir. You have no—no suspicions, sir?"

"No, I say, Ross, have you?" He looked at the man closely.

But he saw nothing save the immobile face of the servant, with a sad look in the eyes that told him only of a natural grief at the death of a respected master.

"I wish I could suspect him," Stone thought whimsically. "It would help along a lot."

"Wait a minute, Ross," he said, aloud, and the man paused.

"You know a heap about your late master's private affairs, and you needn't hesitate to speak out before me. Is there anybody you know of who could have had reason to do this job? I mean, do you know of anyone over whom Mr. Folsom had a strong enough hold to make a motive for murder?"

"That's a big question, sir," Ross said, speaking very seriously. "Too big for me to answer. By which I mean that, though I saw a few things now and then, or heard a few words now and then, I haven't enough real knowledge or real reason for what you might call suspicion. If I had I should have told of it at first, sir."

"Yes, that's right," said Ross. "You don't think it was one of his lady friends did it?"

"Killed her, Ross looked amazed. "Good Lord, no, sir! Why there wasn't any of 'em down here."

"Oh, you mean his chorus girl friends. I suppose he had lots of those."

"No, no many, but now and then one. He was no saint, Mr. Folsom wasn't."

"No, though his sister thinks he was."

"She does that, Mr. Stone. Miss Folsom thinks Mr. Garrett was almost a Puritan, and—he wasn't, sir."

"No," agreed Stone. "Well go along, Ross. I see you can't help me out. Call down for some ice water, will you, and tell them to send that fat child with it."

"Tubby?" Yes, sir."

Ross did Stone's bidding and departed, and shortly the rotund bell-boy appeared with the water.

"You wanted me special," Mr. Stone said. "What the air of importance that he loved to assume."

"What I'm getting at is this Tubby," the detective said straightforwardly. "I want to get all the sidelights I can on Mr. Garrett Folsom. I've learned a lot from his friends and from the police and all that. But there may be some bit of information you can give me that nobody else could. Think so?"

"I wish I could, sir, but I'm darned if I can think of anything. Got anything particular in mind?"

"No, I'm just floundering. Did you see Mr. Folsom when he arrived here? When he first came in?"

"Yes, sir, I did. I was near the desk and I seen him arrive. Oh, yes, he came in very important like."

"Swagging?"

"Not too swagging, sir. Just like a man's who's big and knows it. No shoddy work. And his man, Ross, you know, looking after everything quiet and proper."

"I suppose you mean he made an entrance such as one of the best people might be expected to do?"

"Just that, Mr. Stone. I know all about entrances; I've seen thousands."

Tubby stood waiting, hoping he could tell something of importance, but utterly at a loss to do so, and well knowing that nothing fictitious would go with this man.

"Well, that's that," Stone informed him. "Did he look about at the people before he went up to his rooms?"

"He did just that," and Tubby saw a chance. "He stood quite a while looking at the crowds in the lounge. He hadn't been here in some time, and he was awfully interested."

"Did he notice anybody in particular?"

"Well, he did. You see, his own crowd, Mr. Neville and those ladies, weren't around just then, but just as Mr. Folsom was about to go up in the elevator the Seares and Barrons came down in the next elevator and Mr. Folsom looked at them like he was surprised all to pieces."

"Why," said Stone, "he didn't know any of them, except Mr. Seares, slightly."

Fleming Stone sees the doll that was Folsom's favorite—and gets a shock. Read the next chapter.

An Intellectual Treat.

ANOTHER scientific treat was afforded our people last night when they gathered to hear Dr. Mops, at Melodeon Hall, discuss a recent find in Eastern Asia which promises to upset all scientific calculations as regards the beginning of human evolution. Dr. Mops has the 'biggest collection' of Indian arrow heads in his county, and is also the proprietor of what is unmistakably the left thumb bone of Blue Jacket, a noted Indian chief, that once roamed around where Bellefontaine, O., now stands. Dr. Mops said, "The Swedish geologist, Doc Anderson, who's been diggin' around Pekin for years, has unearthed some prehistoric teeth in a fossil deposit. The stupendous importance of this discovery is scarcely to be exaggerated since it destroys a theory that has retarded scientific and geologic advancement for years. Finnish geologists, have doggedly held to the view that no ancient remains resided in Asia. Controversies on this particular point have been very bitter and prolonged. Instead of our geologists working amiably together for the common enlightenment of all, they've allowed the Asiatic question to divide 'em to the great detriment of science. So, my friends, if this recent find of Doc Anderson means nothin' more than th' bringin' about o' perfect harmony among geologists it is a glorious discovery.

Per many years th' mastodon was barred from our country, an' until as late as 1883, when th' complete remains of a mastodon was found at Harper, Ohio, it wuz not allowed in th' middle west. Our geologists have made such rapid strides in mastodons that their remains are now found in ever' state in th' Union. So, now we have ancient man in Asia. Certainly a great stroke of science.

Of th' teeth found, one is a molar o' th' upper O. P. side, while th' other is a lower bicuspid. Thers' nothin' about th' teeth, we're told, suggests any sort of a prehistoric man different from what's already been dug up here an' there. Th' great point is that their human wuz dug up in Asia. That is where th' great inestimable value o' science lies. It settles a long an' disturbin' debate. This findin' o' human teeth from five hundred thousand t' a million years ole in Asia makes rubbish of age ole theories. It's allus discouragin' to have geologists continually disagreein'. We don't git anywhere. It leaves whatever is under discussion up in th' air. We're not benefited. What th' public demands is facts, results. So, my friends, it's cheerin' to have all doubt removed in this particular case. We now know that man once trod th' arid wastes o' Asia, or maybe Asia wuz a bloomin' paradise a million years ago. Our geologists 'll clear that point up in time. We kin wait. Th' great momentous thing is that human teeth have been dug up in Asia, an' it arouses hope that still greater finds 'll be reported, hopes that some bones 'll turn up that kin be strung together so's t' give us some idee how prehistoric man stacked up in th' Asian period."

SEVERAL days before a theater engagement Miss Malaprop knew that she would be called elsewhere. Her hostess had given her the ticket and they had agreed to meet at the theater. Miss Malaprop gave her ticket to a friend, described the hostess and promptly forgot the matter.

A fortnight later she met the lady who had so kindly given her the ticket. The lady passed her by without speaking. Miss Malaprop's face burned. What had she done? They were attending a reception and several people had noticed the direct cut.

Tears of shame were in Miss Malaprop's eyes. She went to another friend and told her about the incident of the ticket. Her friend smiled cynically. No wonder! What right had she to give a theater ticket to a stranger and inflict her upon a lady who had intended it for Miss Malaprop only.

"But what should I have done?" asked the little lady who was always getting into embarrassing situations.

The answer was that Miss Malaprop should have returned the ticket to her hostess, telling her why she could not go. But no one can supply another to fill a theater, dinner, or, in fact, any social engagement.

Firing Resumed in One Section of City Between Southerners and Part of Defeated Shantungese.

Shanghai, March 22.—A night of comparative quiet, after two days and a night of chaos and disorder, was followed this morning by a resumption of firing in the northern part of Shanghai, not far from the border of the international settlement, where a small number of Northern troops was holding out. A number of houses were set on fire. Nevertheless, the general situation in and around the city was peaceful than at any previous time since the vanguard of the Chinese armies marched into Shanghai Monday morning. Their advance marked the beginning of a series of killings, looting and destruction. It was only after the arrival of more than 5000 Cantonese regular troops in the native city late yesterday that a semblance of quiet was restored.

Promises to Maintain Order.
The victorious Cantonese army is actually taking matters in hand. A small body of Shantungese still held out in the Chapel district, but there was some firing. The shops were reopening. Gen. Pai Tsung-hsi, commander of the Cantonese forces, which took Shanghai, told the British, French and Japanese Consul-Generals today that he intended to maintain order. The Consul-Generals got in touch with him after the difficulty.

The American Consul-General, George E. Gaus, did not participate in the conference, but it is understood he was present. He understood that he would gladly get in touch with him after the difficulty. The Cantonese Consul-General, E. Gaus, did not participate in the conference, but it is understood he was present. He understood that he would gladly get in touch with him after the difficulty. Three Marines Arrested.
The American troops suffered no fire casualty last night when they were patrolling a customs jetty slightly wounded by a spent shot. Three American Marines were arrested by the Cantonese as they attempted to reach the Dollar docks through the Chinese lines. Their arms and motor truck were seized. They were released after a short time, however, when the Cantonese were convinced they were on a peaceful mission. Only one serious clash has occurred between the Chinese and American troops. This was when Chinese troops fleeing before the American attempt to rush the cordon to get into the international area. Some of the Chinese were fired on by the Durham division of the British defense force, and the Durham returned fire. A similar encounter took place between the British military police and the Chinese. These clashes were so killed 100 wounded. The Chinese in the Chapel district last night.
